ROCHESTER
The area known as Rochester was settled in 1817 by James Graham. It was the first permanent settlement in present-day Oakland County. The community was named in honor of Rochester, New York, where many of its pioneer settlers once lived. In 1819 the first industry in this vicinity was founded when William Russell, Benjamin Woodworth, Alexander Graham and John Hersey erected a water-powered sawmill. In 1826 Lewis Cass, territorial governor of Michigan, together with Austin E. Wing and Charles Larned, platted the village, which was incorporated in 1869 and became a city in 1967. Abundant sources of water and the advent of the railroad contributed to the development of woolen, flour, saw and paper mills in the region. The Rochester area is now a major cultural center and includes Oakland University, Michigan Christian College and the Leader Dog School for the Blind.

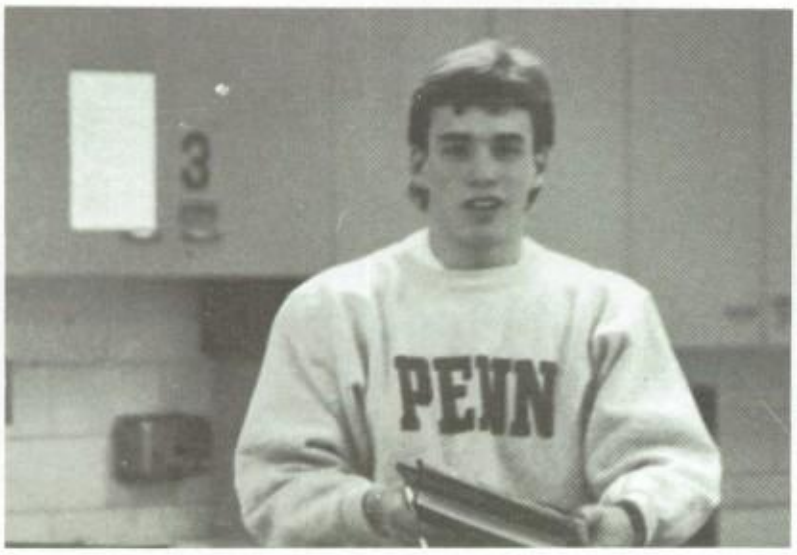
Student Council



The 24 member Student Council aims to improve the school environment. It's they you can thank for the pop and candy machines, for the contests, and for the fun activities during Homecoming Week and the Winter Carnival. They sponsor school events such as Mock Rock, the blood drive, and the Talent Show. This year's can drive was a success, thanks to them. Adams' collected the most cans in our area.

A goal for the students is to learn leadership. They do this by being able to individually run a major project like the clothing drive, or the Marathon Dance. Student Council is advised by Mr. Judge who says, "There's a lot to be done; just suggest what."

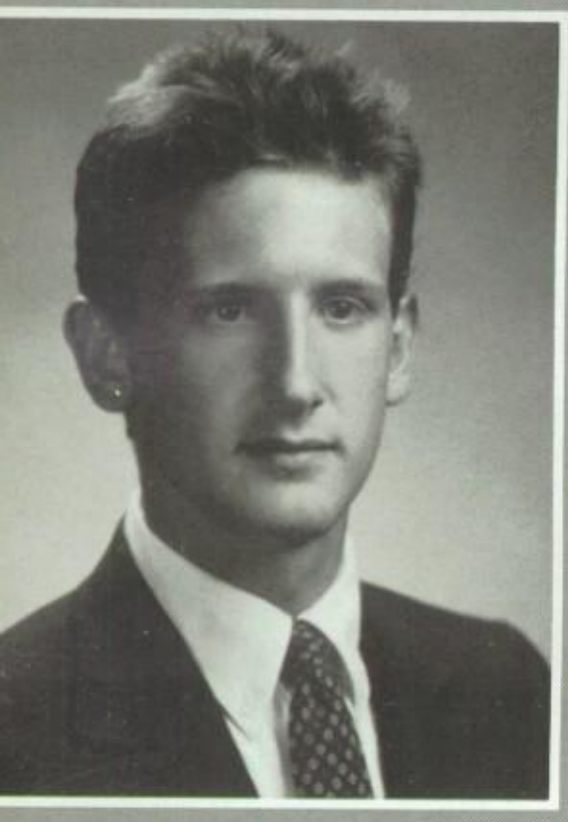
National Merit Scholars

"The splendid achievements of the intellect, like the soul, are everlasting."



David Dent

Lara Fetsco

An outstanding number of Adams High School students qualified for the 1987 Merit Scholarship competition. In the fall of 1985 more than one million juniors entered the competition by taking the PSAT/NMSQT, the qualifying test for the merit program. 15,000 students representing only half of one percent of the country's qualifying seniors, qualified for semifinalist standing. Four Adams students, David Dent, Lara Fetsco, Christopher Gallo, and Chris Leucht were honored as semifinalists. These students have a chance to advance in the 1987 competition for about 6,000 Merit Scholarships worth over $21 million. In addition, Brian Baron, Andrew Chu, Kristi Enghauser, Andrew Rice, Dianne Ilkka, Leah Lukens, Daniel Pavan, David Schweutzer, Christopher Telling, Steven Waid, and Kurt Wasiluk were all honored as commended students, placing in the top 50,000 of more than one million participants.

The four Adams students who achieved semifinalist standing went on to become finalists by documenting high academic performance, being endorsed and recommended by their high schools, confirming their test performance by taking the SAT, and submitting information about their school and community activities, personal interests and goals. All finalists will be considered for numerous college-sponsored merit scholarships.

Were you born on a rotten day? If your stars were lucky and you saw this year's fall play, you'd know the answer. With the help of the leads, Cory Blevins as your favorite astrologer and Physics teacher, Jamie Jones as Coach Bascom, and Jill Cromie as the "good and kind" Agatha Johnson, students could find if their "life was in trine." The cast and crew performed on three nights in November under the supervision of Director Beverly Gibson and student director, Kris Quinn. Much thanks goes out to Ms. Stacey Harris, technical director, Tim Lentz, and technical advisor, Mr. Darryl Schoonover for their much needed help. Other major roles were played by Shelley George, Kristen Olsen, and Duncan Williams.

Seniors Experience

Democracy in 1987

Again this year, students in government classes participated in a Mock National Convention. Each class nominated a candidate for the office of President and its goal was to get their candidate elected. Along with electing a President, the students had to adopt a party platform consisting of several planks. The convention took place over two days. These days were filled with much activity. Ms. Gerber's first hour should be praised for their work in setting up the equipment. Other classes had to clean up after the excitement, decorate, provide body guards, etc.

This year's candidates were: Baker, Laxalt, Bush, Dole, Hatfield, Garn, Kemp, and Thompson. President for the 1986-1987 elections was Kemp. Their hard work paid off in the end and it proved to be one of the best conventions at Adams.

It didn't take a professor to tell anyone that this year's musical, "My Fair Lady" was a success. Directed by Tim Lentz, Adams' finest took the stage. Over 50 students took part in cast and crew making it such a delight. Superb talent was expressed through Jamie Jones as Professor Higgins, Duncan Williams as his side-kick, Colonel Pickering, and Heather Reed's portrayal of Eliza Doolittle. Some stage stealers were led by Ben Wood with the help of Dave Brooks, and newcomer, Mike Poll. Productions of "My Fair Lady" were done in March with the assistance of the student directors, Jill Cromie and Amy Lamphier, and stage manager, Matt Weick. "My Fair Lady" is a classic musical which gave Adams a touch of class . . .

Choirs

Every day, third hour, 69 ambitious students clear their throats and open their voices to sing. Accompanied by Todd Smith, Amy Brown, and Tom Doane the class sings a variety of music from the fast pace of "On Broadway" to the patriotic tune of "Chester." The class is set up to prepare the singers for four concerts and district festival. Under the guidance of Tim Lentz they prepare for the challenge of state festival in May.

Daily practices are also maintained at 6:45 a.m. by Adams Chamber singers. This group is made up of the Men's and Treble Ensembles. The group of 37 perform for the community and then compete at solo and ensemble festivals. Thirteen outstanding soloists make up the Adams' Honor Choir, and six of them, the State Honor's Choir. These people performed in Ann Arbor with the best in the state: T. Doane, J. Jenkins, A. Kitchens, J. Krauss, V. Prill, and H. Reed.

SPIRIT

Spirit Week began this year with people getting dressed up and wrapped up. College T-shirt day found third hour Student Council delegates counting all the people dressed in their favorite school's t-shirts and sweatshirts. At lunch time, the toilet paper came out as the classes raced each other to see who could wrap someone the quickest.

people dressed for a day "at the beach." Although th temperature was freezing, the students looked hot in the jams and Hawaiian shirts. Later, during lunch, the senior juniors, and sophomores battled in the baby bottle contest.

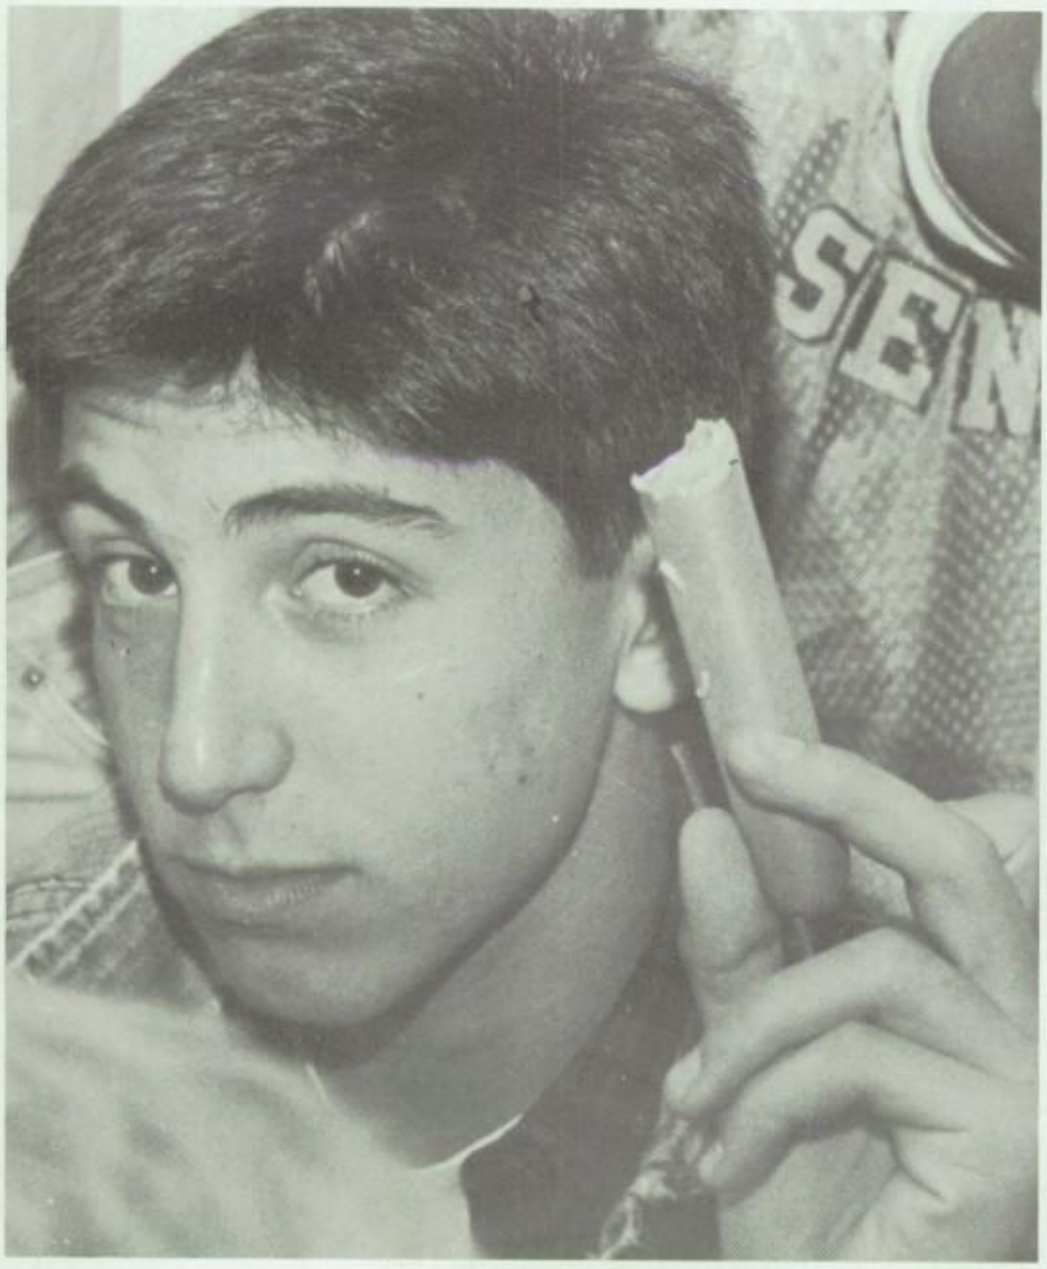
Tuesday

WEEK

Thursday

On Thursday the halls were filled with brown and gold by those who participated in School Colors Day. At lunch the classes faced off in the pie-eating contest. For those with lesser appetites, the baseball team donated a car which sat outside, by the tennis courts, for car-crashing. The car-crashing was a big "smash"!



The halls looked like a war zone on Wednesday as the Senior girls camouflaged their faces with green and gold paint to get them ready for the night's B.G. Bowl game. The Juniors in red and gold and the Sophomores in blue and gold helped to make Class Colors Day a success. At lunch the classes matched appetites during the hot dog eating contest.

The Seniors of 1987 proved that determination pays off. The class had the 19-0 victory planned way before the game on October 8. As they practiced daily in the rain and mud, they paved their way to an easy win.

Taking the lead from coaches Eric Garvin, Phil Bogad, Torrey Adragna, and Jimmy Binson, the girls got into the spirit from head to toe with more face make-up than a camouflaged soldier.

Touchdowns by Carol Ferrari, Cheryl Winsaur, and Amy Waring, and an extra point kicked by Shannon Patrega accounted for the Seniors' 19 points.

SILVER

Although the theme was the Silver Screen, the fall Homecoming dance was definitely a golden occasion. Organized by the Student Council, the dance was the biggest conversation piece around Adams for weeks before and even after. To get the students keyed up for the big night Christopher Chaffin painted a wall in the hallway by the office depicting the movie theme. The night was highlighted by dancing under the falling balloons to this year's theme song "Heaven in Your Eyes."

SADD is a nationwide organization that is involved in a year long battle to combat this nation's number one killer. This year SADD went through a period of reorganization. They had been involved in some community projects, such as Project Graduation and starting a Safe Ride Program. They also held an Amber Lights assembly and sponsored a dance. "A SADD story"

Going to a party
to have some fun.
Opening a beer
the night's begun.
Steadily drinking
as the hours roll by,
I start to feel good
and sort of high.
Noticing a friend
stumble over my feet, mumbling something
as he tries to speak.
Remembering he had a lot to drink that night,
I stand and think
as he walks out of sight.
Hearing from the crowd
that he's driving home,
Nobody with him —
he's all alone.
Worrying about my friend,
I don't want him to go
I try and grab the keys —
He tells me "no"!
Trying to tell him
someone else will drive,
"That's stupid!" he yells,
and tells you he's fine.
On his way home
my friend had died.
When I heard the news
I sat and cried.
Wasn't there anything
I could've done?
Because I didn't,
my friend is gone.
24,000 a year will die.
Now, are the statistics
a little high?
Hopefully someday
the number will go down.
If only people would realize it and spread the news around.

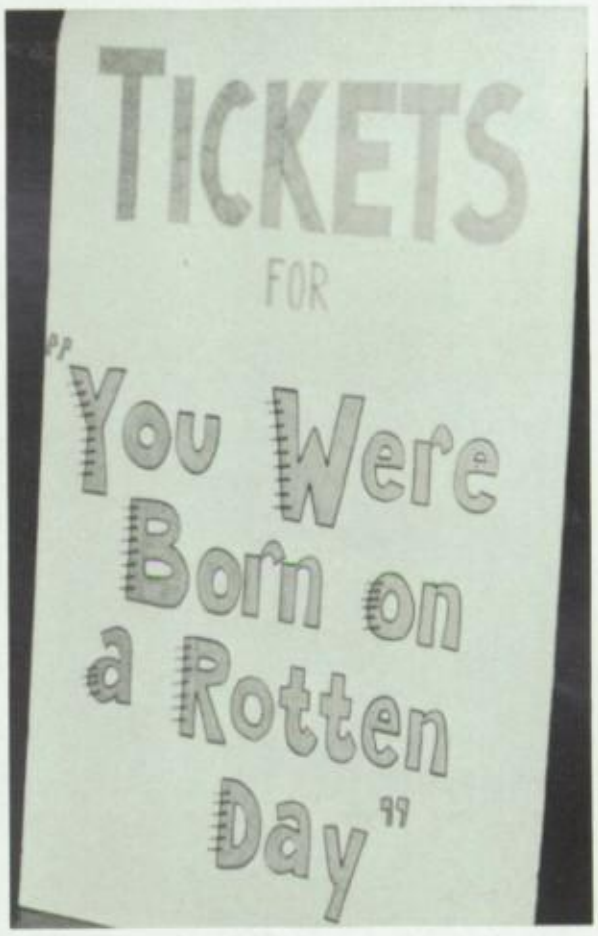
The International Thespian Society is the group of actors and actresses as well as the people behind the productions here at Adams. They sponsor the fall play, the spring musical, and the end of the year Advanced Theatre class play. Twice during the year new Thespians are initiated to the group. to become a member of the I.T.S., one must acquire points either on or back stage during productions of these plays. This year, the Honor Thespian Award was given to President Jamie Jones. To be eligible for this honor, one must have 600 hours of theatrical experience.



"Theater is showing belief in the unbelievable or being someone you may or may not be. With such good directors such as Mr. Tim Lentz and Ms. Beverly Gibson, the impossible becomes possible and the actors become their parts. I've worked hard in the theater and with hard work comes reward. I'm not only honored but proud to be this year's Honor Thespian."

Once again this year, Adams seniors served as counselors in the Sixth Grade Camp Program. The counselors' duties were to watch over the campers, to discipline when necessary, to attend all classes, and to maintain a high level of enthusiasm, throughout the week at camp.

Dr. Roy aided the elementary schools' principals in selecting the high school counselors. Decisions were based on the counselors' academic standing, and past experiences with camping and children. During the week at camp, all classes and activities were organized and run by the sixth grade teachers and special guests.

Above: Counselors Kelly Kauffman Laurie Fallot, and Jeff Menzel model their camping attire and demonstrate their enthusiasm for the fun-filled but very busy week at Camp Tamarack.

Below: During their hike through the forest, the campers came upon an interesting discovery — a fox hole.

Right: Seniors Kelly Kauffman and Paul Nolta demonstrate their dancing techniques to the kids. They call this technique cuttin' the chair at the Social Dance.

Each day, the campers attended four classes. These included archery, air rifle, pioneering, map and compass, nature photography, food chain game, reptiles, Michigan Mammals, Indian culture, and several other instructional periods.

As always, the program was a huge success this year. It proved to be a fun-filled week for all who participated.

On February 18, Van Hoosen's cafeteria rocked like never before. The lucky students who got one of the limited tickets had a chance to mingle with some of the music industry's hottest performers ... well, sort of. With make-up, costumes, lights, and record playing in the background, Adams' students were ready. Mock Rock mesmerized the audience with their convincing performances.

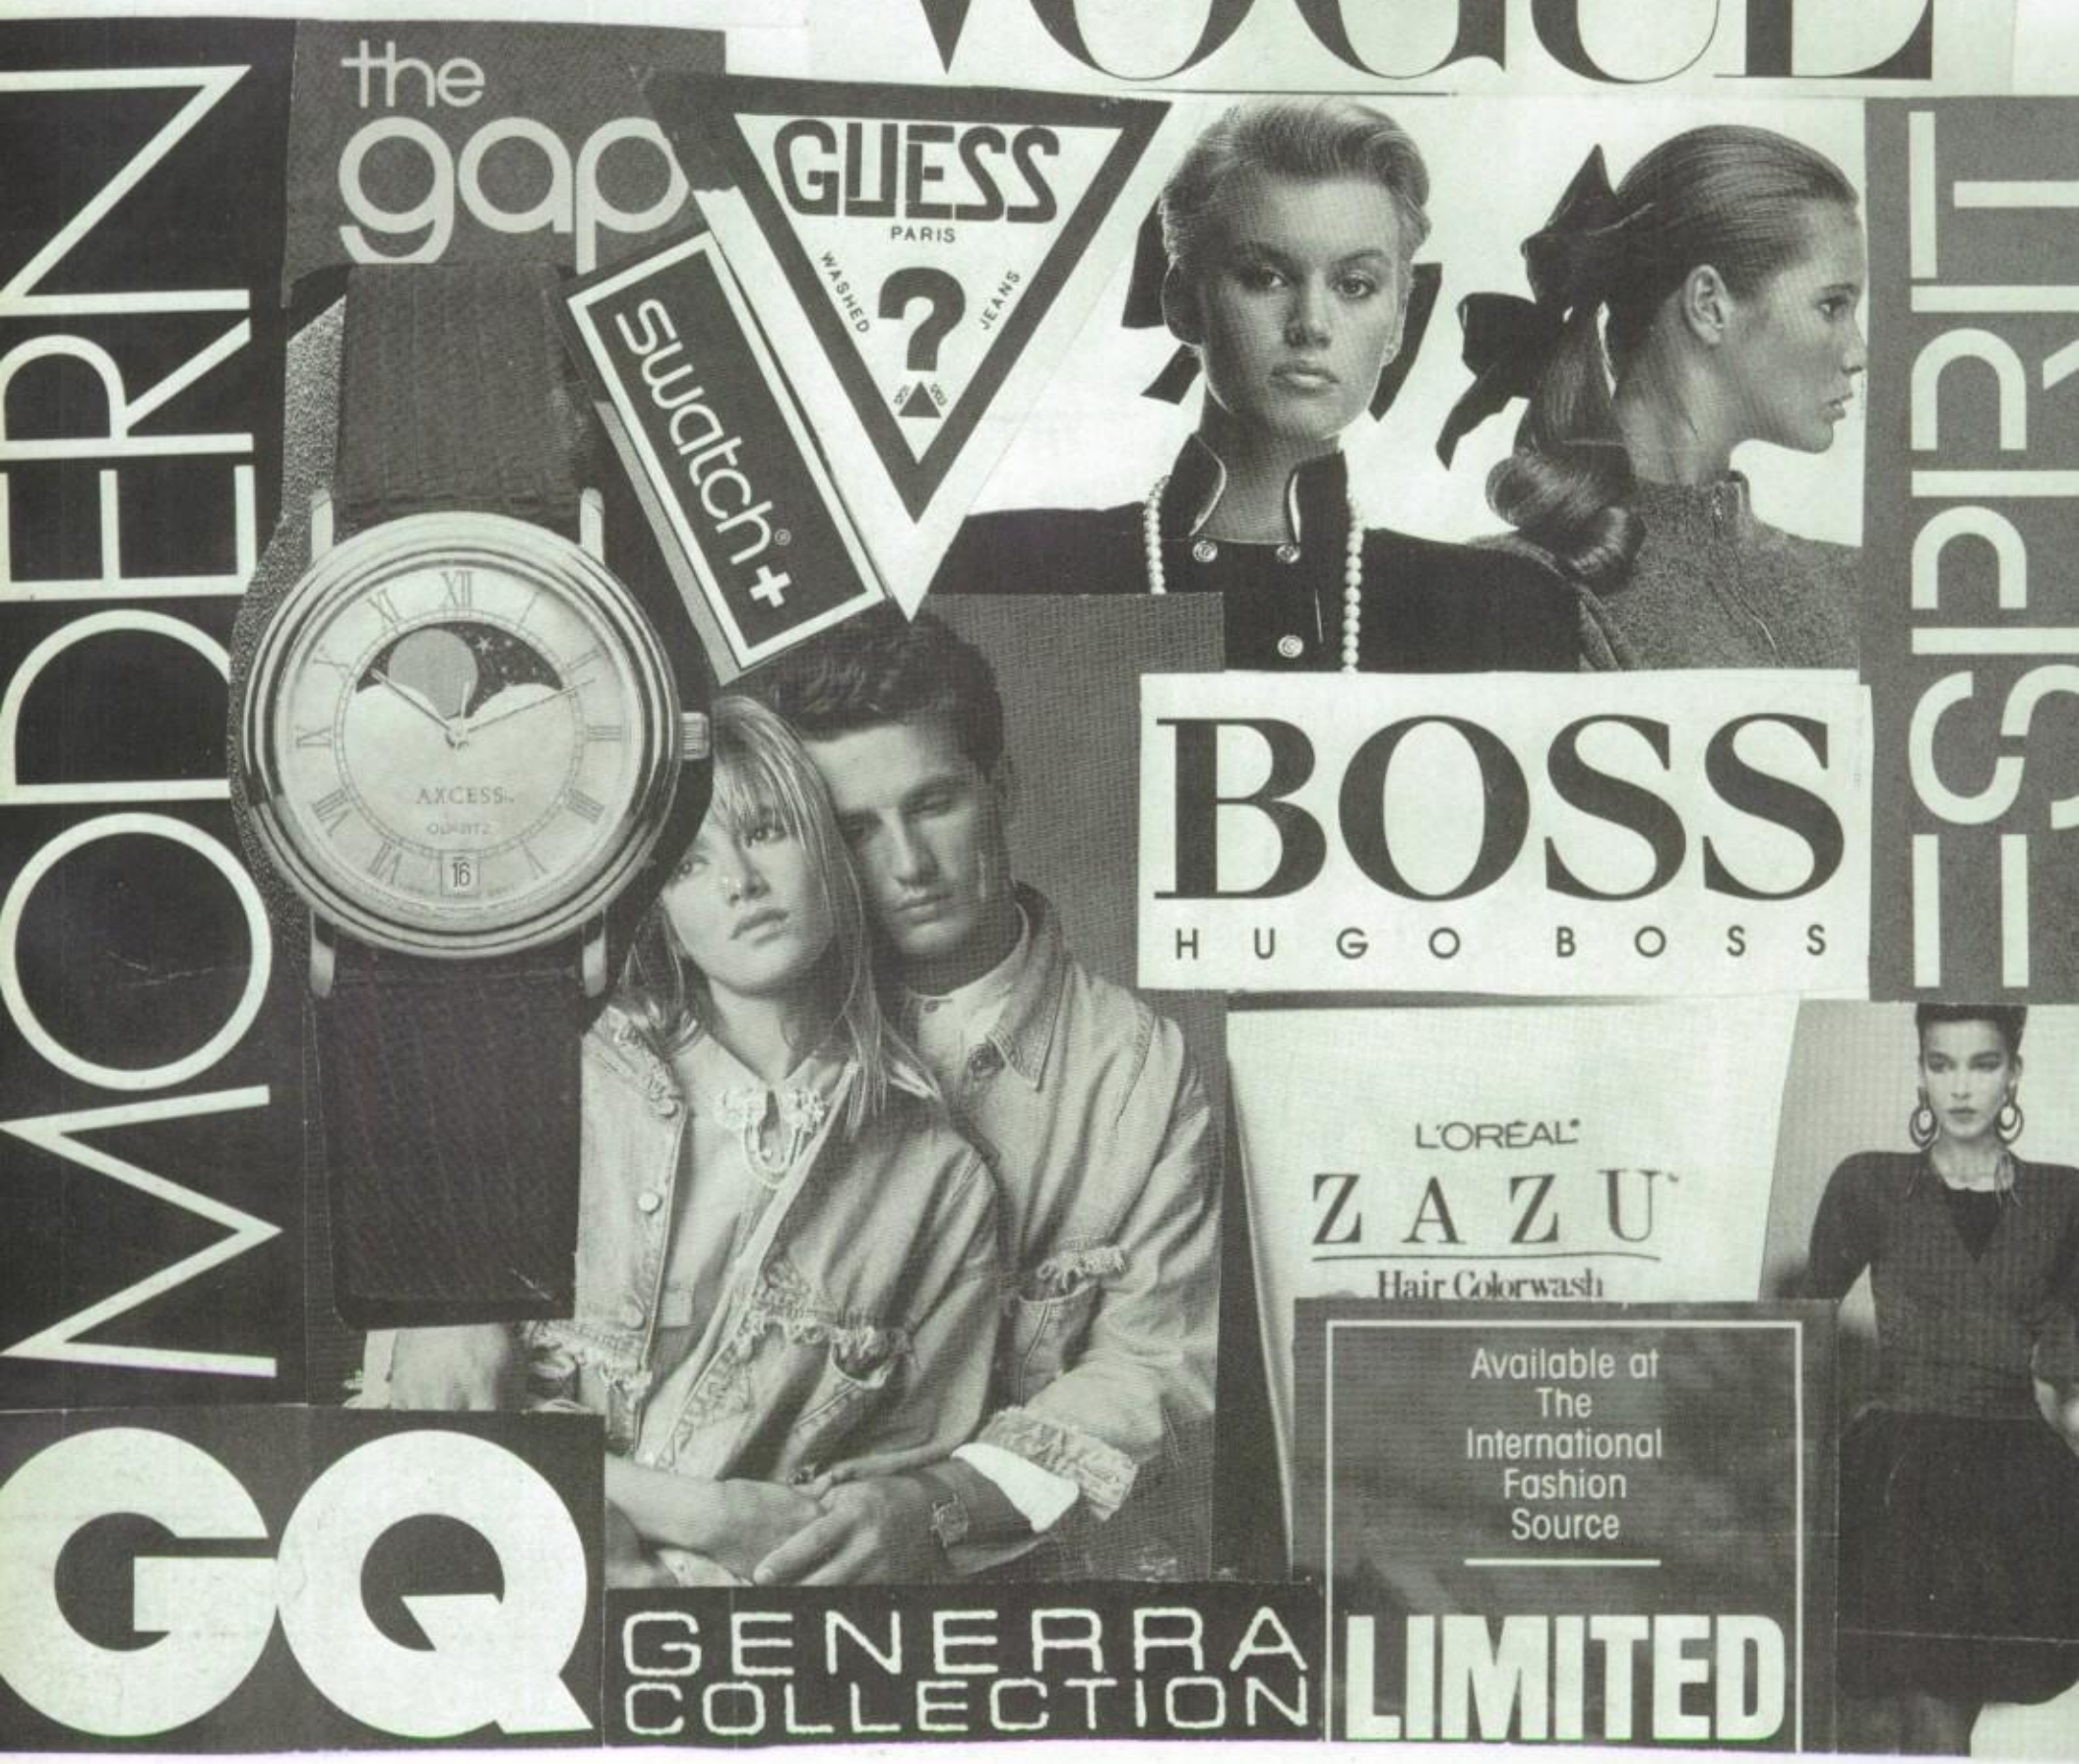
Brian Clough had the girls screaming with his Bon Jovi imitation. His acting was good enough to win him a tie for third place with Judas Priest: B. Borski, D. Pratt, C. Treand, C. Galvin, and S. Riley. Straight from t.v. commercials the California Raisins: B. Justin, K. Facko, K. Houchins, T. Wedekind, humorously danced their way to second place. Recapturing the feeling of disco fever E. Garvin, N. Nixon, T. Adragna, J. Rogers, R. Santo, C. Ackerman, and G. Steward had the whole audience standing on their chairs as they made the Village People with Y.M.C.A. number one.

Whether on the stage or in the audience, everyone had a great time!

Rock in '87

Center: "Raisin" heck, California style are T. Wedekind, K. Houchins, K. Facko, and B. Justin.
Clockwise: Strutting like Egyptians are M. Crocenzi, S. Thompson, A. Lamphier, C. Auer, and K. Olesen. Girls swoon at "Brian" Jovi. Having a gay 'ole time are the Village People: G. Garvin, N. Nixon, T. Adragna, J. Rogers, R. Santo, C. Ackerman, and G. Steward. Seniors Shannon Pietryga and Kisha Gnau did not mean to turn on Alice Cooper, Craig Hecht. Flicking their bick for an encore is a select few in the audience. Creating mass appeal as Judas Priest is Bob Borski.

FADS



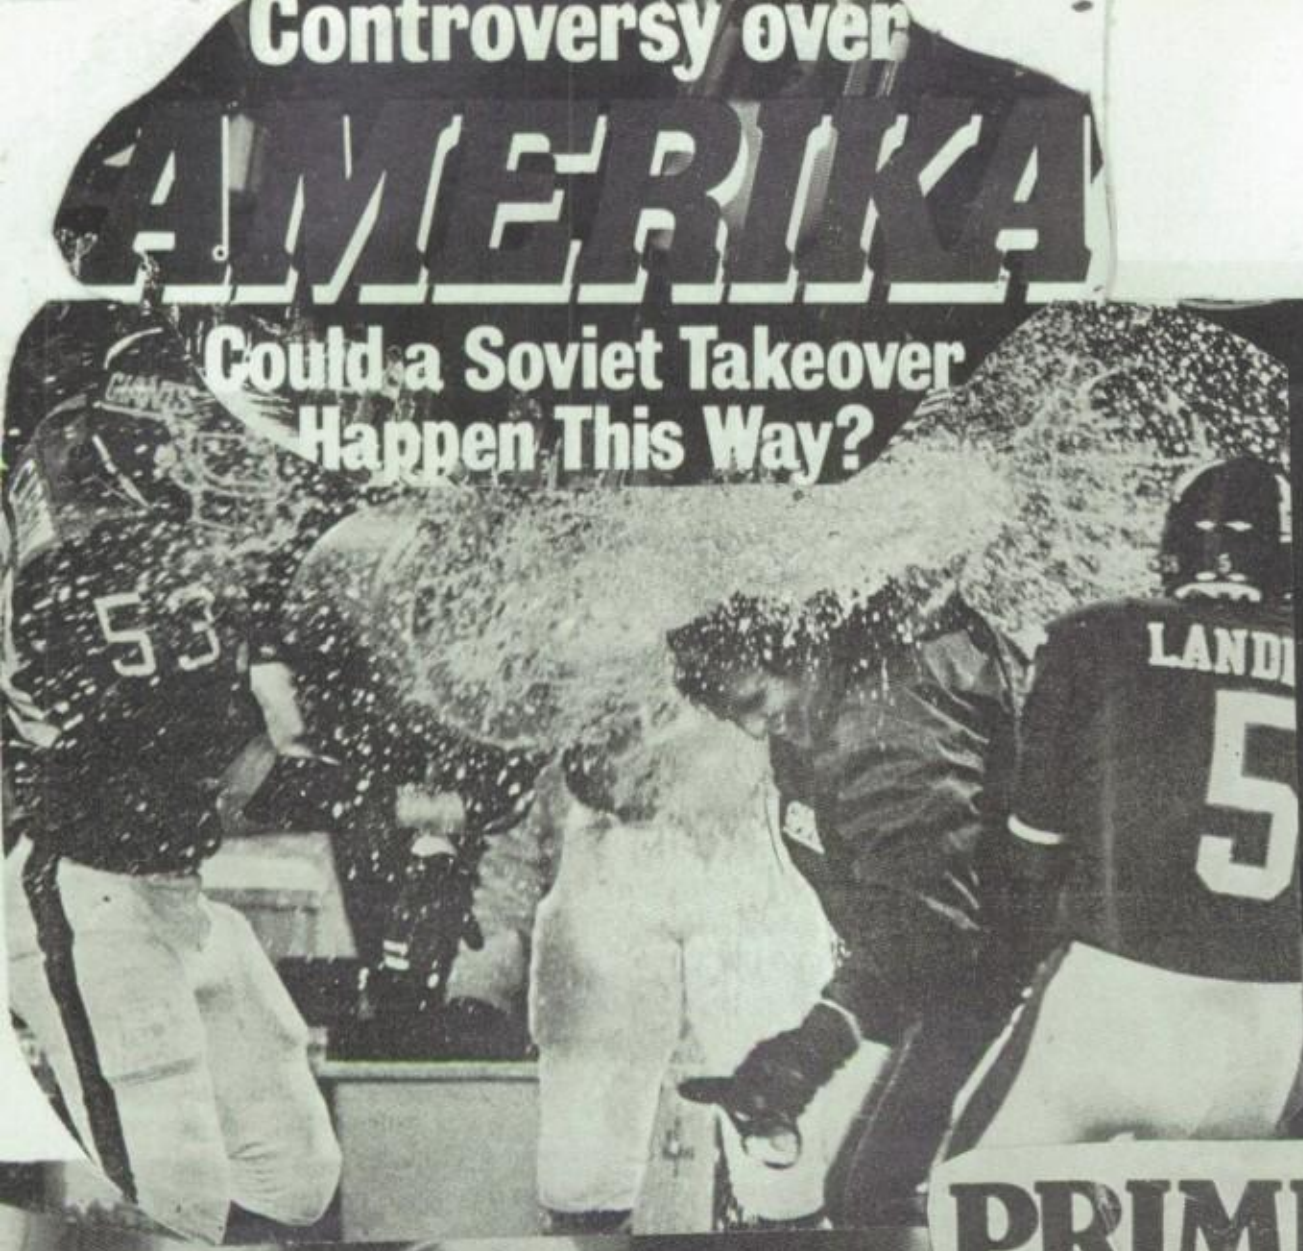
Fads filled the halls of Adams this year. The girls showed their style from head to toe with banana clips and hair bows to high tops and metallic shoes. For that matter, everything metallic was in this year from shoes and purses to belts and definitely jewelry. Silver had to be voted as Metal of the Year, as nearly every girl wore silver hoops on her ears at one time or other. Shopping at the Limited was big this year as shown by the multi-buttoned Outback Red shirts and other clothes from "Down Under" as well as the Moondial watches by Axcess that replaced Swatches as what was in for wrist-wear. At times, a visitor might have thought he was in Iowa farm country when he saw everyone wearing the Guess Overalls that were so hot this year. Chances are that if you wore anything Guess or even Esprit you were in fashion this year.

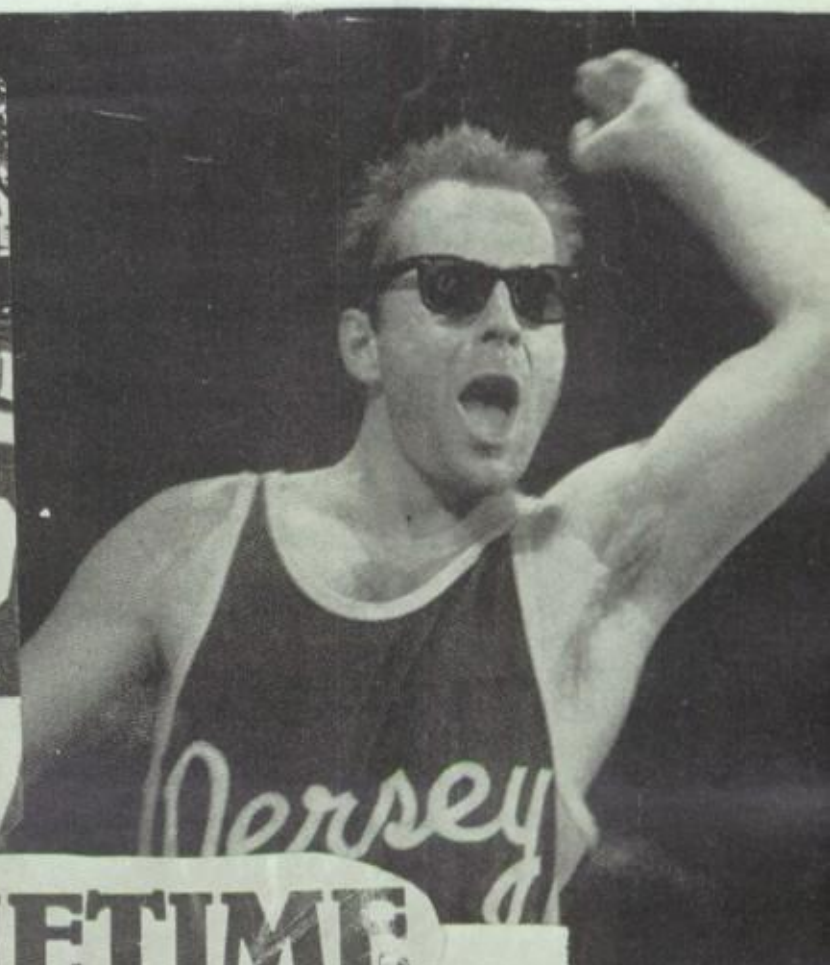
Hair fashion was as big an issue as clothes. For girls, long hair was in this year whether is was worn up or down. However if the hair was pulled up, it had to be dressed properly in a big, black bow or pearl-lined fun clip.

We were continually being told by Vogue, Bazaar, Elle and even Seventeen that bubble skirts were in this year but did you ever see one in the halls at Adams? Adams made some fads of their own as underwear became a fashion statement. Longjohns peeked out from under jean skirts, shorts, and jeans with holes. Guys made the simple white t-shirt hot by having a bit show under their sweaters.

Jeans were big this year whether they were 501 Blues Girbaude, or Guess Beat Ups. No matter what style they wore this year, Adams students definitely looked hot!

WHO'S HOT





Music, television, movies, and sports all had their hits this year. In the record industry Bon Jovi took Adams, Detroit, and the nation by storm. His album Slippery When Wet went to number one along with two singles. Adams' students camped out all night in front of Meadowbrook Mall to get tickets to his Detroit concert which sold out in a matter of minutes. Following in her brother's footsteps, Janet Jackson was the hottest female singer this year. Her album Control placed many songs in the top ten and even some at number one.

Number one in the primetime television ratings belonged to "The Cosby Show." Thursday night on NBC was definitely the hot t.v. night with Adams' students glued to their sets for the line-up of "Cosby Show," "Family Ties," "Cheers," and "Night Court." However, NBC was not the only network with hot shows. ABC had a large Adams audience with "MacGyver," "Perfect Strangers," "Growing Pains," and "Moonlighting." "Moonlighting" 's Bruce Willis' following grew as he moved into commercials, records, and HBO specials. ABC stirred up a lot of controversy over "Amerika," the mini-series that depicted a Soviet takeover of the United States.

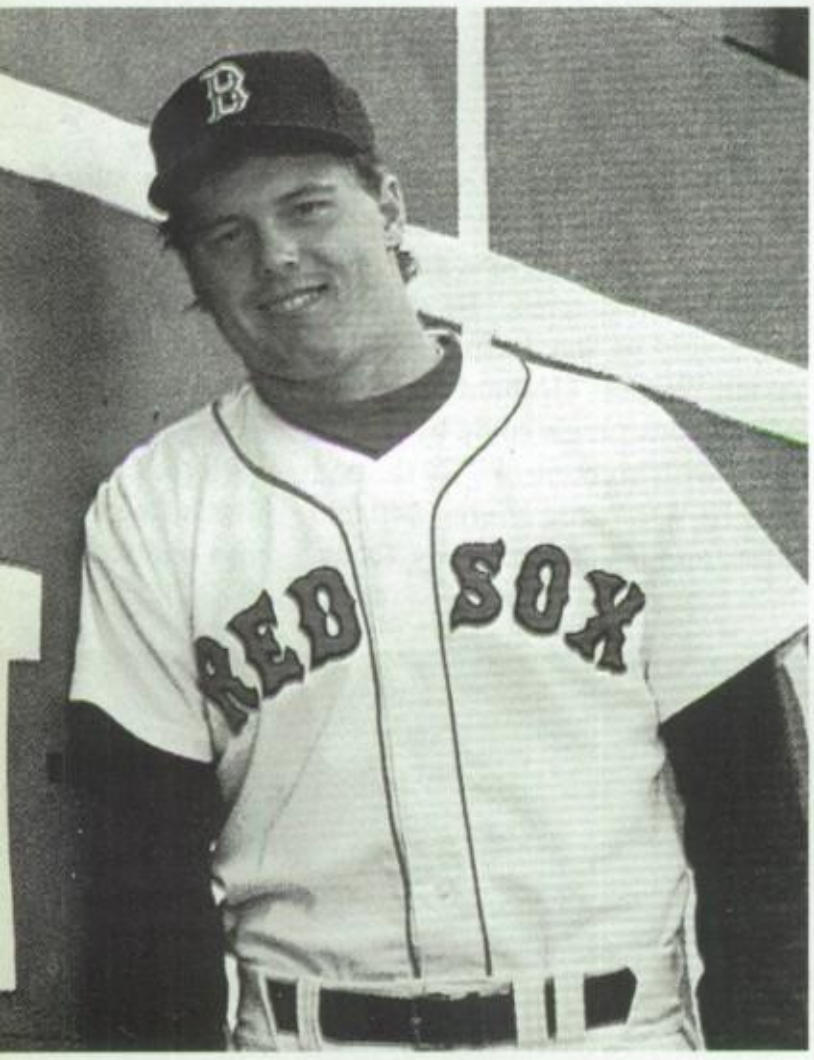
Tuesday cheap nights found Adams' students waiting in line at Winchester Mall to see this year's hot movies "The Bedroom Window," "The Golden Child," "The Morning After," "Stand by Me," "Outrageous Fortune," and "Platoon."

World Events

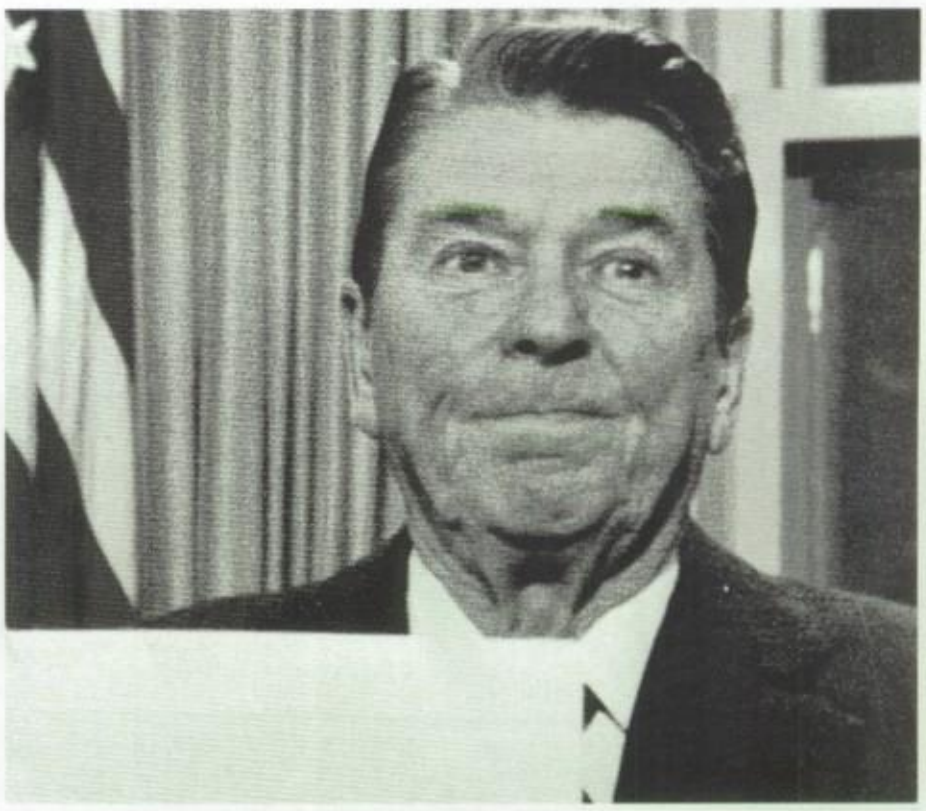
Jack Nicklaus, 46, won his sixth Masters tournament. Nicklaus became the oldest winner of the tournament.

Terrorism tightened its grip on travelers from the U.S. and its allies. In West Berlin, a discotheque was bombed, killing a number of American soldiers, including one from Detroit.

Bruce Willis and Cybil Shepard were two of the stars in one of this year's hottest television shows.

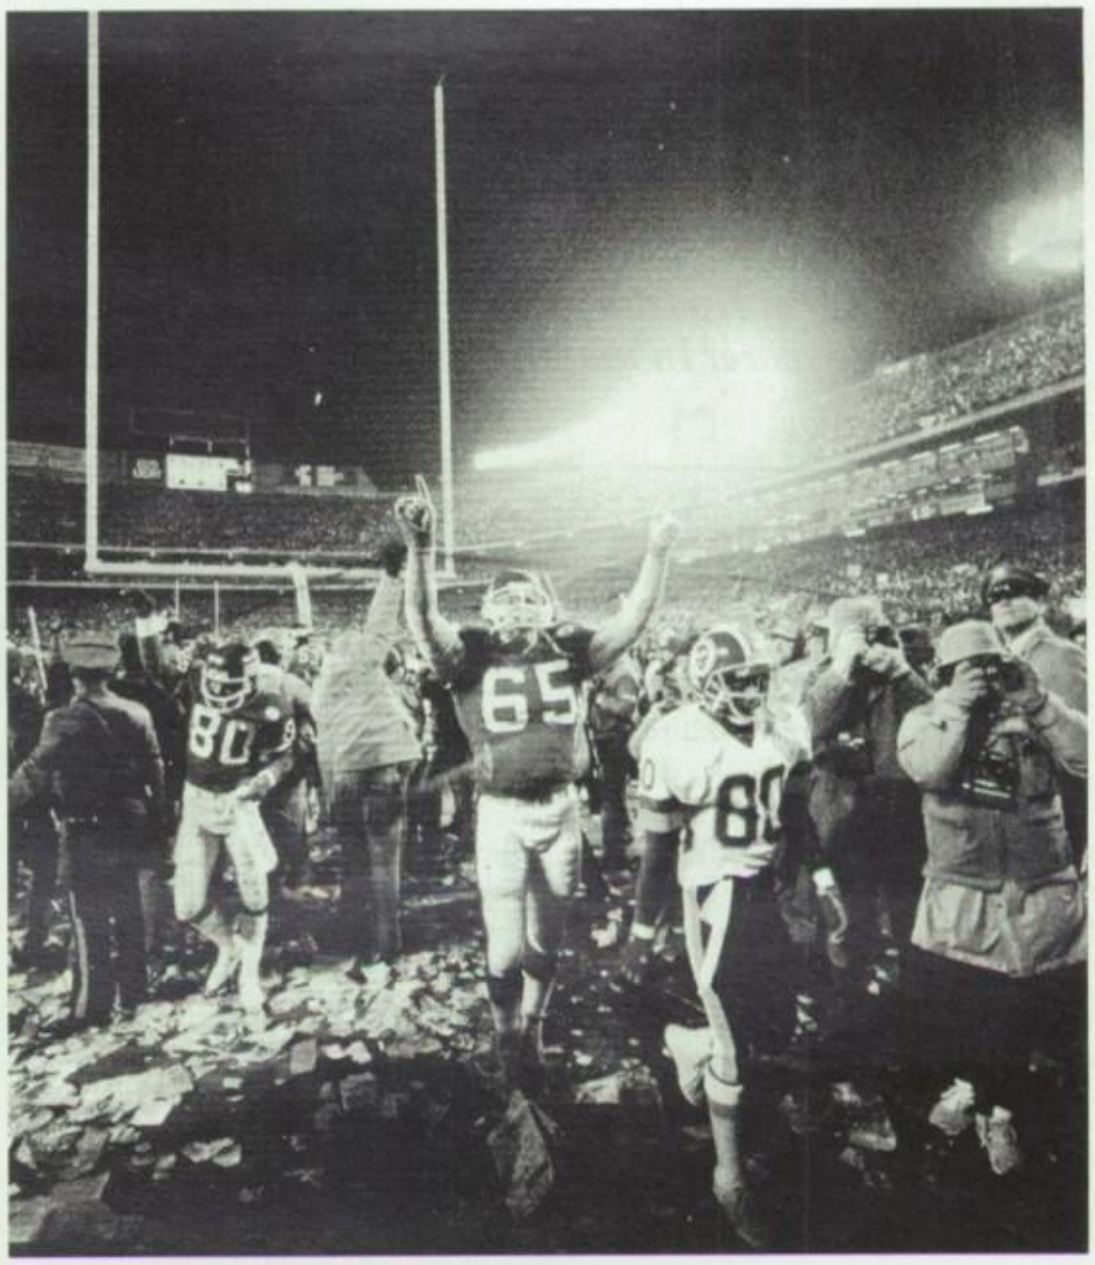


Roger Clemens was the American League's best pitcher during the '86 season. However, Clemens was not enough to defeat the New York Mets. The Mets defeated the Boston Red Sox in the World Series.



Ronald Reagan started the new year in controversy with "Irangate."

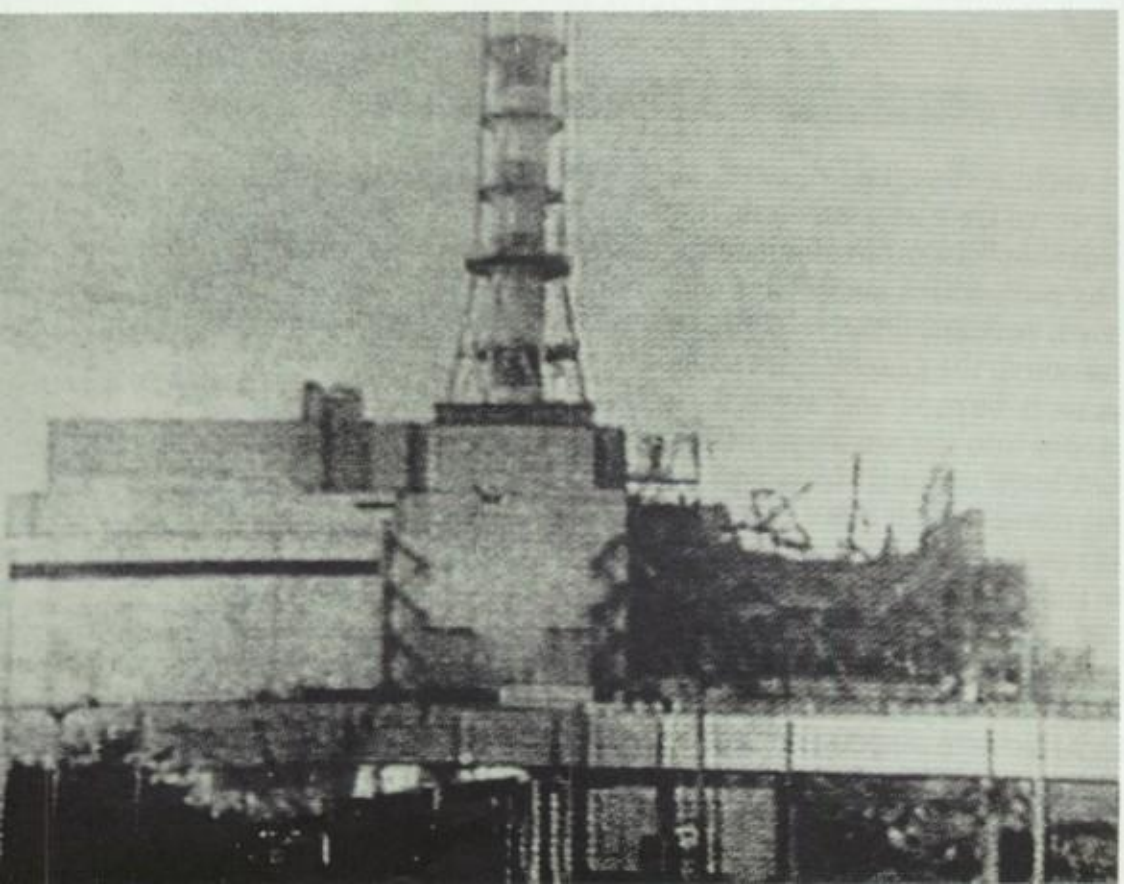
holas Danilof was arrested and imprisoned in Russia. He was eased in a prisoner exchange before the Iceland Summit.



After defeating the Redskins in the playoffs, The New York Giants defeated the Denver Broncos, in Super Bowl XXI.

Corazon Aquino took over the presidency of the Philippine government when Ferdinand Marcos fled to the U.S.

Dennis Conner led the "Stars and Stripes" to victory in the America's Cup Challenge.



◄ The Soviets experienced the worst nuclear disaster in the world at their plant in Chernobyl. According to the Soviets, 31 people were killed as a result of the blast.

Released early from 5th hour, we all traipsed through the halls, down the stairs, and into the music-filled gymnasium. We filed into the bleachers, just as we had for the past 3 years. There was a difference though. We were sitting in the section we idolized. The seats weren't any different; they had always been hard, uncomfortable, and crowded, but we finally made it to the section with prestige. We witnessed the homecoming court strut in. We watched the ball tumble to the floor, which defeated our third and final chance at upturning the centipede crown. Our unbelievable tug-of-war team pulled the sophomores into unknown territory.

After all the events came to an end, the students, finally settling down, were anxious to leave the sweat box for a breath of fresh air. Then, through the speakers blasted the familiar tune "Twist and Shout" by the FAB FOUR. We came off the bleachers in a rush to show the rest of the school just how to twist and shout.

All at once, it was over. We left school that day full of triumph and regret, knowing we'd never return to a homecoming week. And with that, the 1987 seniors' final homecoming came to a close.

The reality of being seniors and having to make a float didn't hit until Thursday night — the day before the float contest. But being the best senior class, we pulled off the impossible. In the course of two days, we produced a float worthy of being called a "Senior Float". Here, putting on the final touches are Kirsten Sellgren and Robin Buxar. The senior class wishes to give our thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Kurtenbach and family. Without their generosity, this phenomenon would never have been completed.

Mid-April brings the excitement that Spring Break is drawing near. The thoughts of the average Adams senior turn from homework and exams to the vacations they've been planning since September.

Whether their destination is Colorado or the Bahamas, Adams seniors will find that certain activity to ease the winter tensions and have fun.

At the top of the list are skiing and sunning. The skiers will be packing up their poles and ski masks and heading to popular sights such as Utah, Colorado, or Vermont. Those people who prefer the warmer spots for sunbathing and swimming will be flying south to the Bahamas, Cancun, Hawaii, and Fort Lauderdale or any other place a teenager can pick up that "Coppertone Tan".

Transportation? No problem! Flying seems to be the most popular method, though it can put a dent in one's pocketbook. But once you get to that destination, it's worth it.

The enthusiasm of the senior class at the assemblies was due largely to the early dismissal from class and the knowledge that we had a very insecure sophomore class and a very gullible junior class. The supremacy of the senior class was quite evident during the assemblies, as the underclassmen copied our every move, from waving signs to turning their backs. Good luck next year underclassmen, and hey, try to think of something original!

This year the senior music poll showed no clear favorites. The tastes of the students ran the gamut from R.E.M. to INXS to David Lee Roth. Although there were no obvious favorites, several performers and bands did stand out above the rest. For Favorite Male Performer, Phil Collins, Bob Seger, Sting, David Lee Roth and their female counterparts Whitney Houston, Annie Lennox, Madonna, and Tina Turner each got a fair share of the votes. Some of the more popular bands included U2, INXS, Van Halen, A-Ha, The Dead Milkmen, The Cure, and Led Zeppelin. When it came time to tally the favorite radio station and D.J.'s, WLLZ (98.7) with Doug Podell led the way, followed by WDTX (99.5) and Jim Harper, with WRIF (101.1) with Arthur Penhallow running a close third. For those of you who missed it, this summer's Monkee concert was the hottest thing around. Many people also enjoyed the Cure, INXS, Genesis, and David Lee Roth concerts. When it comes to the least favorite performers, those who were the most liked were also the least-liked and vice-versa. The varied musical tastes of the seniors is a reflection of the individuality of the class of 1987.

After three years of high school, the seniors have finally learned to party. It sure seemed to take a lot of practice, weekend after weekend, but the senior class perfected the art.

We asked many seniors to tell us their favorite party experience:

"My best party experience was a huge gathering of friends in the woods one night, with a huge campfire and lots of . . ."

Here's one we'll never forget:

"Tanya Kurtenbach's Homecoming bash was hot. A big house and a lot of people!"

How about this one?

"Santo's bash, yeah!"

Long Distance Partying:

"Going up to MSU. Partying all over the campus. Eating pizza at Bilbo's, wrestling with college dudes, going to bed at five. Awakened and forced in a shower and finally crashing at 7 A.M."

"The night twenty of us from work and school spent the night at the Spartan in two rooms and didn't get busted!"

After reading all the comments, one idea appeared consistently. The following exemplifies the standard senior's party experience.

"I don't remember!"

At 2:15 P.M. the bell undoubtedly rings. By 2:20, the mad rush in the parking lot begins. Cars zip around, horns blast and often fender-benders occur. In the winter, we experienced the whisp of ice balls through our hair, dodging the crushed glass, but still getting a flat tire. 2:30: It's almost empty now. But there's always tomorrow and the rush starts again.

Life as a Senior . . .

Once upon a time . . . Many youths stepped into the halls of Rochester Adams with intense feelings of fear, anxiety, and rambunctiousness. They set out to accomplish their goals, working for the day when they would receive that rewarding piece of paper — their diploma. Through all the years of good and bad, and through the smiles and laughter, they learned the meaning of dignity, wisdom, and truth.

Those youths who have grown to become responsible women and men, belong to the Class of '87. We together have shared a bond of pride and spirit, and not one of us was even afraid to say, "I love the Class of '87."

Like a fairy tale, our "high school days" have come to an end — foreshadowing a happy future. Here at Adams we have had a substantial amount of education as well as consistent guidance, both intellectual and personal.

In the years to come, when we reminisce about our "high school days", no matter what the future holds, the memory of Adams will always be as precious as gold.

UNDERCLASSMEN

We're too young to reason

To grow up to dream

There's no doubt about it — the Junior Class of '88 was definitely one of the finest classes in the history of Adams. They excelled in everything; in spirit, in academics, in sports, in clubs, at class activities, and of course, at parties on the weekends. The Junior Class Council did an outstanding job of putting together many different activities for the Junior Class. Special activities included the Halloween Dance, Adams' Midnight Movie, Adams Ski Night at Pine Knob, Santa's Visit to Adams, Cookie Sale for Bathroom Doors, and the Junior Class Trip to King's Island.

The Junior Class Officers for 1986-1987 were: Jeff Schwartz, President; Rob Pfeffer, Vice-President; Shelley Bennett, Secretary; Marti Aversa, Treasurer; and Jon Bricker, Kristin Hain, Shannon Hare, Mark Jeong, and Sophia Song, our class representatives. The Class of '88 extends a special thank-you to our class advisor, Ms. Mary-Jo Gerber.

Throughout the year, the Class of '88 went forward with style. You can bet that when the freshmen enter Adams next year, the Class of '88 will be sure to dominate.

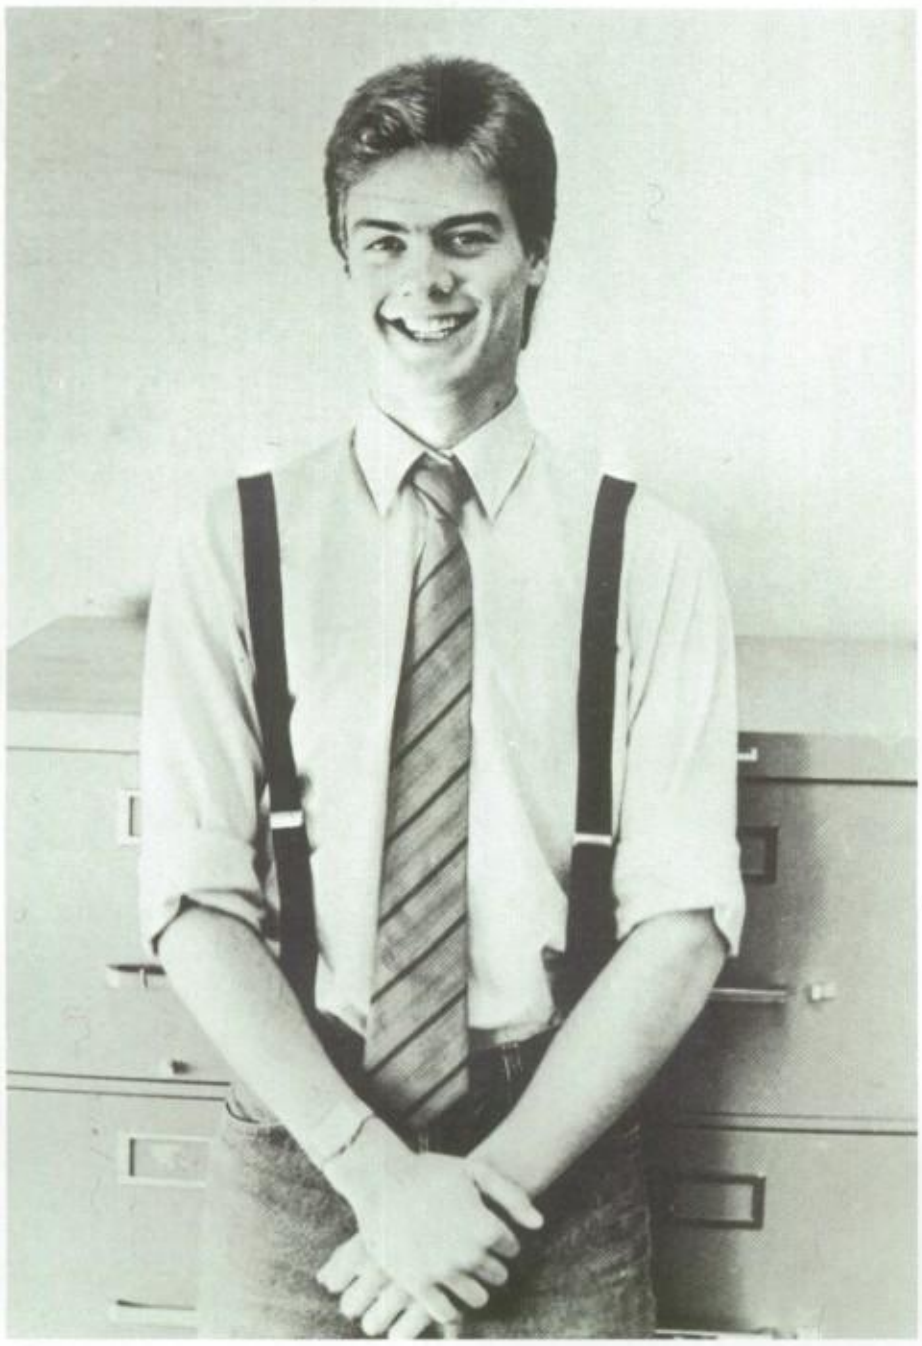
Supervising the whole



Many people don't realize how the school board is in volved at Adams. The Board helps direct the constructio company and insists on minimal disruptions to the sta and students. Supervising construction, however, isn't th only way the Board has influenced Adams. They have pro vided the funds to install lights, seating, and a metric trac to our outdoor facility. This means that our football, soc cer, and track teams will be able to compete on our hom field next fall.

Todd Woodcox is the Adams representative to th school board. As the liaison, he is responsible for pro viding information to both sides. He states, "Without goo communication between these two parts of our educa tional system, nothing can get accomplished by eithe side."

Foremen of Adams

Adams' Administration has spent their second year here dealing with more problems than usual. In addition to helping out students, teachers, and parents, they also have had to spend a great deal of time working with the construction company. Our student body has had to put up with a lot of inconveniences and our administration has helped out as much as possible. They are always accessible and willing to listen to student concerns. They are: Mr. James Steeby, Principal; Dr. Rob Roy and Mr. Gary Miller, Vice-Principals.

Administration

Holding Adams Together

Behind every good school, ther are efficient secretaries who hav the huge responsibility of running th school smoothly. Administrators teachers, students, and visitors alik go straight to one of the office sta whenever they need help. Mrs Gowanlock and Miss Audett welcome visitors, ring bells, answe telephones, and keep administrator afloat in the main office. Mrs Belevender and Mrs. Gardocki tak care of issuing student late passes keeping track of absences, an listening to countless stories in th attendance office. Mrs. Borck help the counselors by scheduling ap pointments and handling schedule and report cards. Seniors see a lot o Mrs. Weinzierl when they submit co lege applications. No matter who yo see, you can be sure to receive he with a friendly smile.

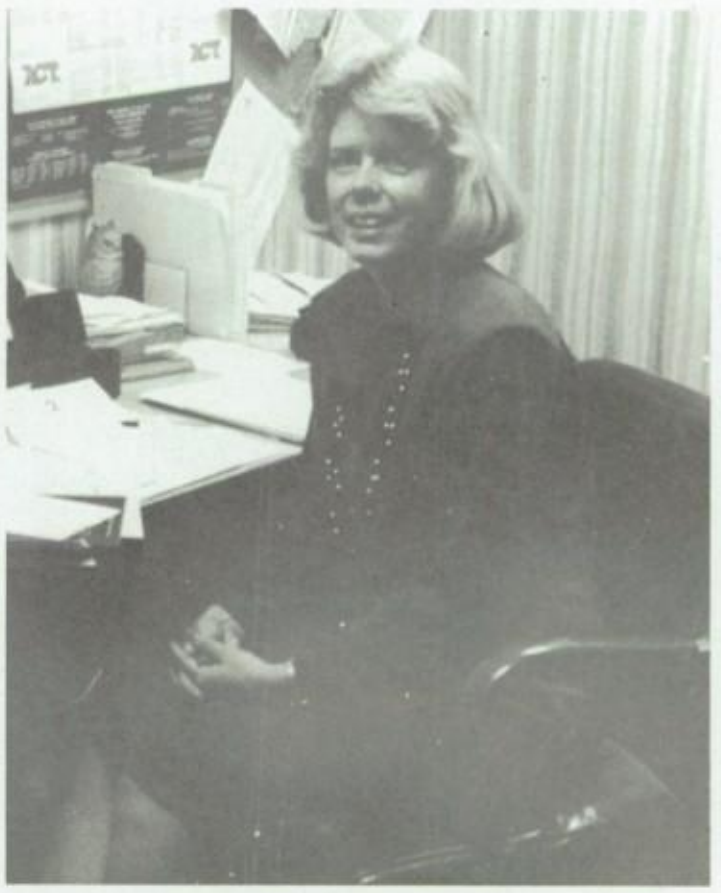
Secretaries

Bridging the gap

Our counselors are involved in the mainstream of Adams. They run the SCOPE program to help juniors decide their future. They advise seniors on college choices and take care of applications. They schedule classes twice a year. Most importantly, they are always there for students — whether it's classes that need switching or personal problems that need talking out. This dedicated group is: Mrs. Reidinger, Mrs. Ryan-Mitchell, Mrs. Sicora, Mr. Parks, and Mr. Zalesky, who arrived this year to help out with the growing responsibilities.

This year, Mrs. Ryan-Mitchell received quite an honor: She was voted president of the Michigan Association of College Admission Counselors (MACAC), which represents 800 high schools and college counselors in Michigan.



Counselors

Coping with constructive changes

Although the library has not been directly affected by the construction, it has been busier than ever.

"Since the teachers have no space for rooms, there is a class in the library almost every hour," said Dr. Sally Hull who runs our Media Center. Teachers also used the library as an office during conference hours since some departmental offices were eliminated.

Rosemary Sharp is in charge of the audio-visual department. "The school couldn't run without her," affirmed the newest library staff member — media clerk Suzanne Glinka. Her job, according to Mrs. Sharp, is to "ably assist Dr. Hull in all phases of library work."

Above: Mrs. Glinka looking through the news.

The career resource center, run by Mrs. Leopold has always dealt with change.

In past years, these changes were those that students must face when they pass from high school into "The Real World."

To prepare for this, the CRC was formed to teach employability skills, to help with job placement and to provide all kinds of information on different colleges. There were also constructive changes within the department itself this year.

The CRC was relocated because of the construction. It was downsized, and put in a room that is shared with the writing lab second and fifth hours.

But this is just one of the many changes the CRC has had to deal with; and being the resourceful people that they are, they provided all of their services with more success than ever.

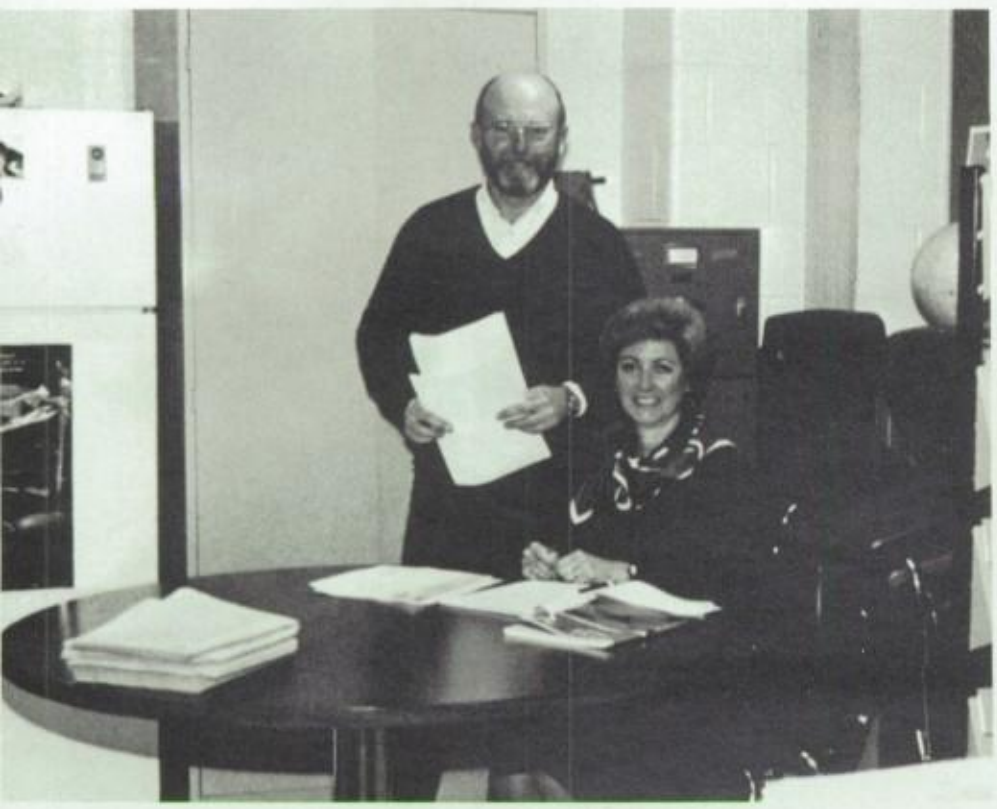
Building Knowledge



At the desk where I sit, I have learned one great truth. The answer to all our national problems — the answer to all the problems of the world — comes to a single word. That word is Education.

— Lyndon B. Johnson

Many students are unaware of the Special Services Department. The department "services those students who have been identified as having some problem learning, not necessarily due to I.Q.," explained teacher-consultant Rita D. Cleland.

The program is divided into three different classrooms: A classroom where students may go in place of a mainstream course, a special support class, and the teacher-consultant program.

The special services staff includes Susan Brusstar, Amy Jo Harding and Ron Swift in basic classroom; Teacher-consultant Rita D. Cleland, Instructional Aides Joyce Benham and Jean Graves, Psychologist Chris Yriat, Social Worker David Busch and Speech and Language Pathologist Nancy Freund.

Special Services

Preparing for the future

Neovec could be construed as meaning "Neo" as in new and "Vec" as in vector, but it is really an acronym for Northeast Oakland Vocational Education Center. Many Adams' juniors and seniors spend half their days at Neovec, the other half here at Adams. These students are trained in electronics, industrial mechanics, cosmetology, computer accounting and food service. Students also take part in job preparation programs, and are offered placement assistance. Neovec really is a "new vector" to the future because most Neovec students are prepared to enter the working world upon graduation.

Gym or cafe? Food for thought

Calling this section "Cafeteria" may be a misnomer. As in other years, the staff sold a large variety of lunches including salads, subs, chicken sandwiches, hamburgers, burritos, nachos, tuna sandwiches and pizza.

This year, however, these lunches were sold in cardboard boxes from carts stationed in hallways around the gymnasium and what was once the cafeteria. The students were also moved from the cafeteria into a partitioned half of the gym. The cafeteria staff should be commended for coping under less than ideal conditions.

New developments in art

The school's art rooms were not directly affected by the work in the building. The rooms, however, were shared by other teachers. The situation does have its advantages. As Mrs. Jensen says, "Sharing my room makes me keep it cleaner."

Art students were very busy this year with murals and displays in the main office.

The darkroom was also updated, just in time to meet our constant demand for photographs.

A new teacher, Mr. Nordrum, came into the department in the 1986-87 year, and Mrs. Montgomery-Gernat became a full time English teacher.

Paving the road for success

Typing, Retail Merchandising and Accounting are only a few of the many business courses available at Adams. This year, a new course, Computer Application to Business, was added. To equip this class, the department received 13 new computers.

The business department is headed by Mr. Korson, Mr. Rosenberg, Mrs. Schmitz, Mrs. Swoyer and Mr. Tignanelli. Students involved in business classes were able to join in many activities including DECA, the annual fashion show and the school store. "It is quite different," said Mr. Tignanelli of the construction, "but it will be worth it in the long run. Everyone seems to be coping well and working together toward the goal."

Homeless but not helpless

"We decided to call it the Hideaway because nobody can find it!" said student store clerk Laurel Rivers.

The school store had to change more than its name this year. The construction evicted them from their original room to a closet and a hallway above the gym where the student lounge used to be.

"It's very difficult to have a program with no facilities," stated Mr. Tignanelli mildly.

"There's nothing positive about being in the hall," Laurel adds, "but the construction will be fantastic when it's finished."

The Hideaway staff overcame the inconvenience and sold as many candy bars, pennants, t-shirts, and supplies as ever.

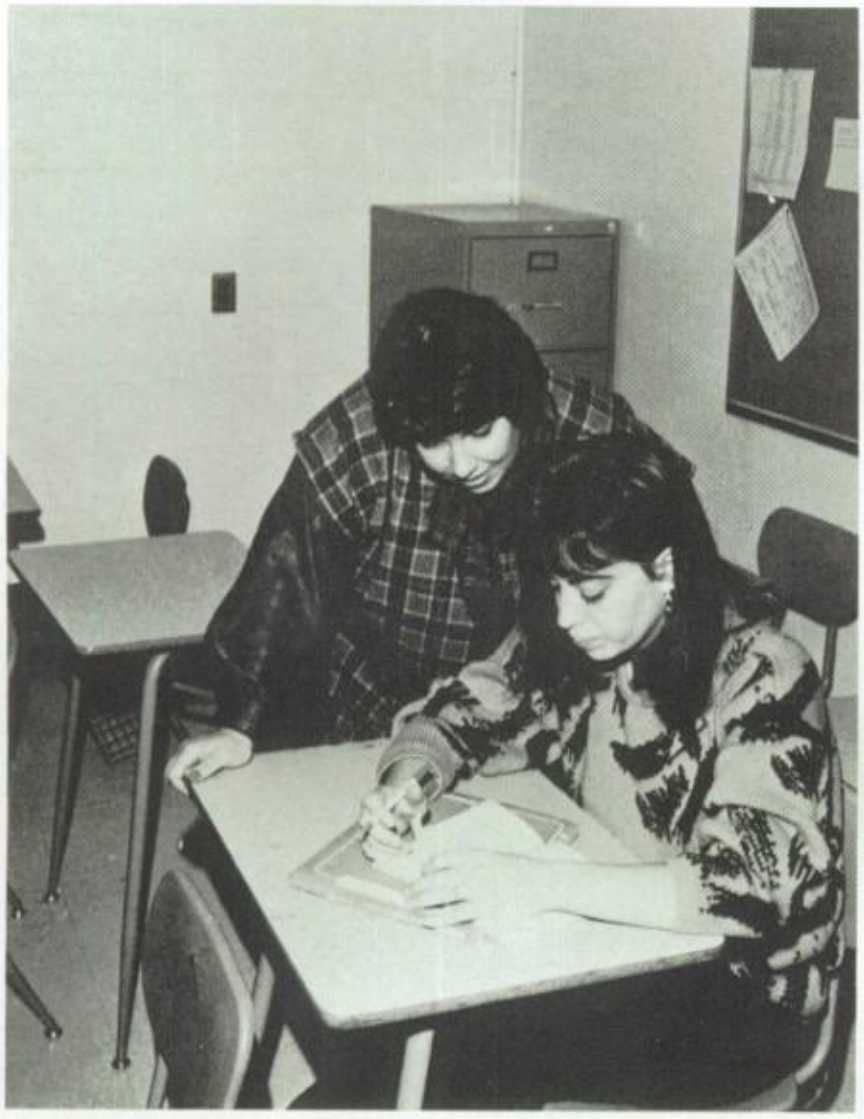
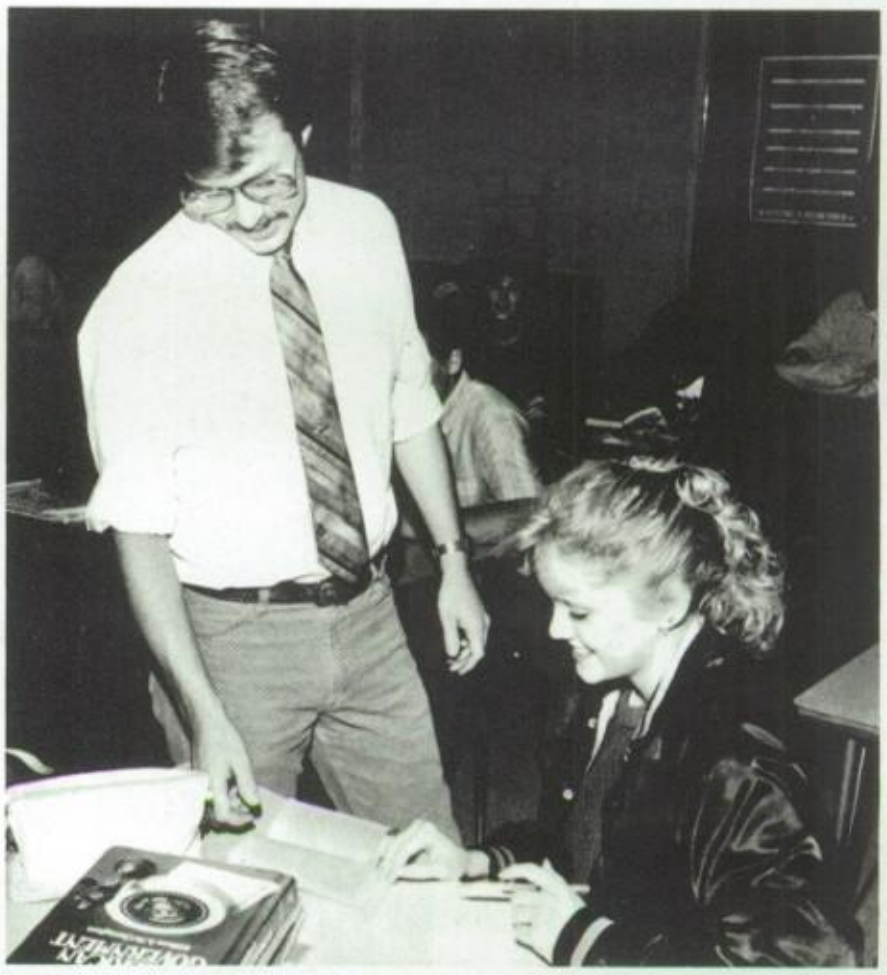
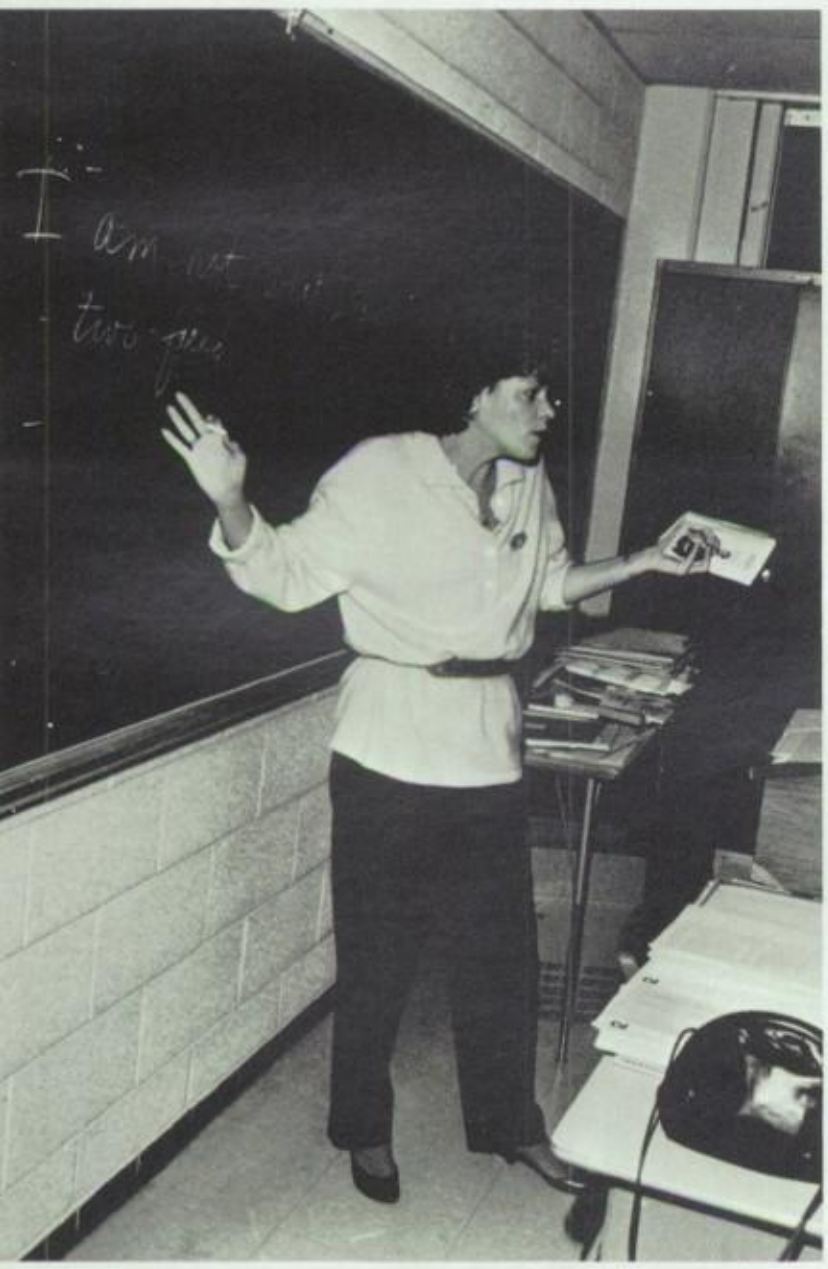
Expanding our literary horizons





English



The English department has taken on many changes this year. Ms. Crehan retired this year, but Ms. Harris and Mr. Schoonover are new. Ms. Harris is a past graduate of Adams. We are very pleased to have them helping out the English department.

The English department has many difficulties due to the construction. Mrs. Boyle says, "We can't find many important items; we walk and tote more every day." However, the construction isn't affecting the English teacher's willingness to work, Mrs. Boyle explains. "We offer a Thursday study session (2:30-3:30) for anyone who is behind in the week's work."

The English department includes: Dave Berube, Daryl Schoonover, Margaret Boyle (department head), Stacey Harris, Colleen Winkler, Carol Gerling, Sally Erkkila, Gwyn Hartman, Beverly Gibson and Cathy Brooks. These teachers help make a successful department.

The Foreign Language department has kept very busy this year. The teachers have taken their classes on field trips, brought movies for their classes, and this summer a trip is planned to Europe. This trip will give Adams' students the opportunity to visit cities all over Europe for a reasonable price.

The construction has not affected the Foreign Language department as much as other areas of the school. However, the department has felt the effects of it.

Teachers of this department include Ms. Hill, Mr. Pazevic, Mrs. Nash, Mrs. Shober, Mrs. Whitcher, and Mrs. Snow. They all help in keeping the Foreign Language department a fun but educational experience.

Building the foundation of a home

Twice a year, visitors at Adams may be surprised to see some students carrying around eggs decorated as babies in a basket. This is one of the more visible projects in an economics class. Child development, another home economics class, is taught in the first and second hours of the day by Mrs. Long. The first ten weeks include lectures on social behavior and on planning a successful family. During the second ten weeks, the class runs a nursery school. The students take care of children between the ages of two and five. This class is very beneficial to both the students and the children who attend the nursery school. Mrs. Long says, "Home economics prepares you for college and adult life."

Mrs. Kramer teaches food and interior design. Foods 1 teaches the students the basic cooking skills. Kitchen Arts is a more advanced class for cooking and food preparation. Interior Design teaches the student design with symmetrical and asymmetrical forms. The students also learn to plan, decorate, and draw a layout for the house of their choice.

Building the industry

Mr. Orchard and Mr. Rosenthal head the industrial arts department. The industrial art classes give students the opportunity to polish their skills with hands-on experience. Drafting, metals, basic electricity, mechanical engineering, and architecture are some of the classes offered. Students learn to use their skills on a day-to-day basis. Drafting and architecture include the drawing of angles, lines, and three dimensional objects. Other classes are excellent for learning to be independently useful.

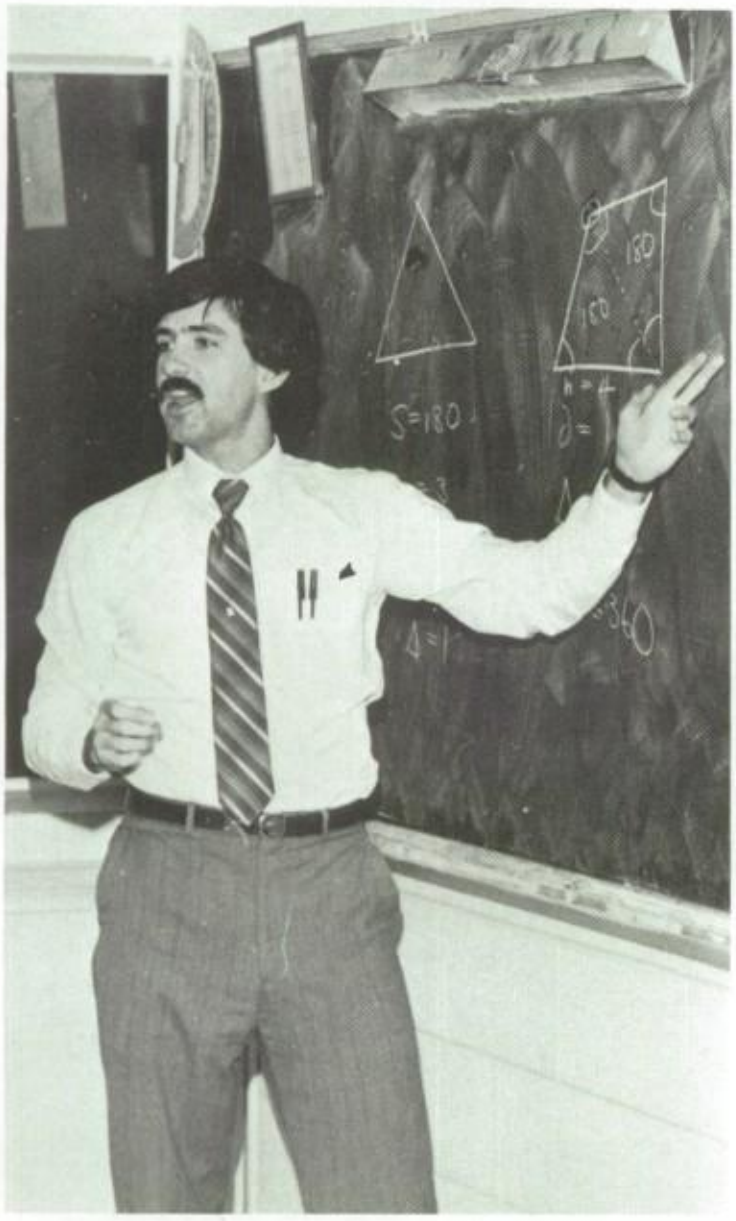
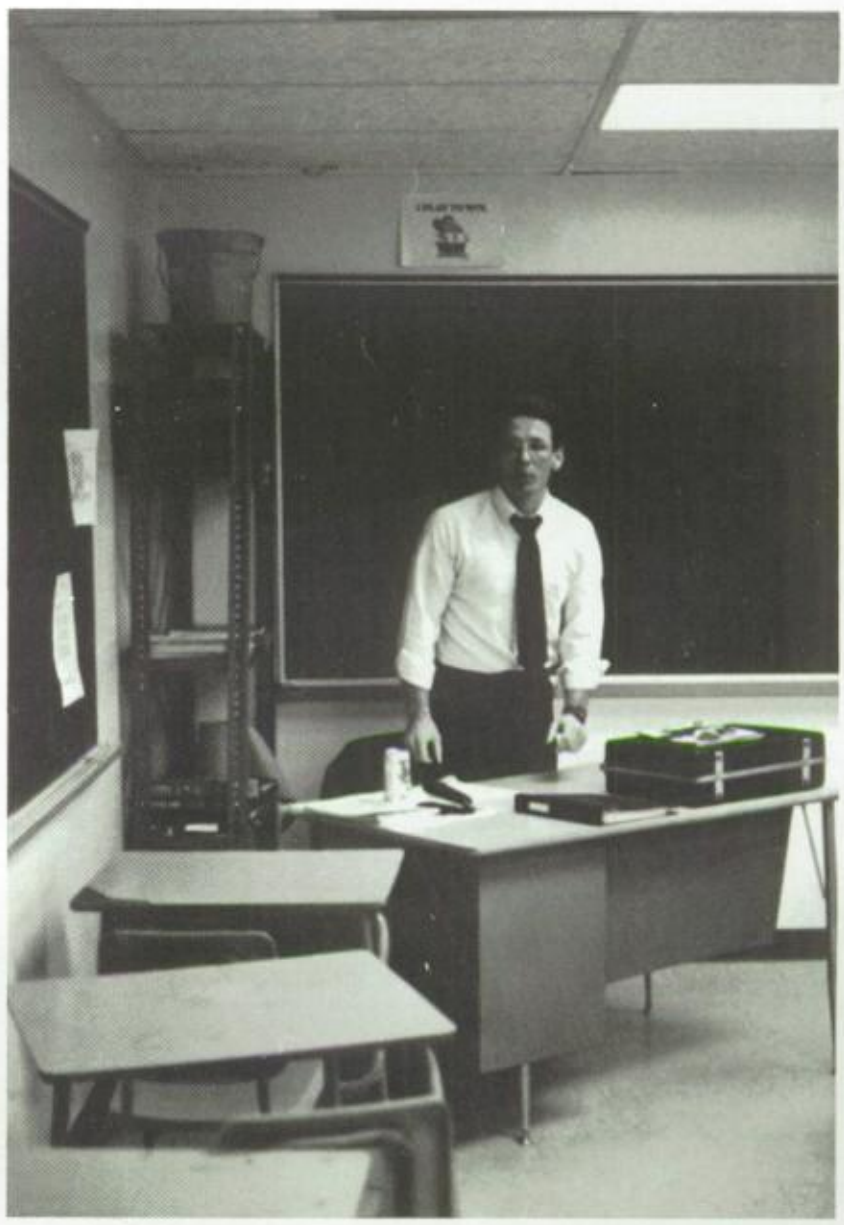
Watch for numbers . . .





The Math department has undergone some big changes this year. Ms. Joyrich and Mr. Taylor are new teachers to the department, and Mrs. Ratti left Adams this year.

The construction has caused all teachers to move their classes to temporary rooms on the second floor. Many of the math teachers don't have their own rooms, and have to change to a different classroom at least once a day.

Mrs. Swoyer and Mrs. Bragg teach computer classes. These classes will help students in our society of computers.

The Math department also offers courses including general math, algebra, geometry, trigonometry, and calculus classes. These classes are all very beneficial for college preparation.

The teachers from the department include: Mary Bragg, Budd Cicciarelli, James Dunn, John Guerrieri, Wendy Joyrich, Joyce Krull, Esther Kuiper, Carl Pasbjerg, Anne Swoyer, Jim Taylor, and John Treat. Carl Pasbjerg is head of the Math Department. He and the rest of the teachers help their department run smoothly.

Many talented Adams students get a break from their studies by joining one of our music department's many programs. These programs include treble choir, men's and women's vocal ensemble, marching band, pep band, symphony band, wind ensemble, and jazz band.

Senior Leah Lukens, who had been involved in Adams' band for three years, says, "Band is a great break in the day. It makes you think on a different level. It's art instead of science."

The musical staff consists of Miss Stevens, our band director, and Mr. Lentz who directs the choirs.

Body construction ahead

All Adams students are involved in the physical education department at one time or another, since a full year of gym is required. Whether it's sophomores trying to "grin and bear it" through ten weeks of swimming, athletes perfecting their skills, or seniors lightening up their work load, Adams' gym classes are always popular. The phys. ed. department with Mr. Runchey, Ms. Craven, Mr. Zelmanski, and Mr. Seman, offers a wide variety of classes for students to enjoy, while they become physically fit.

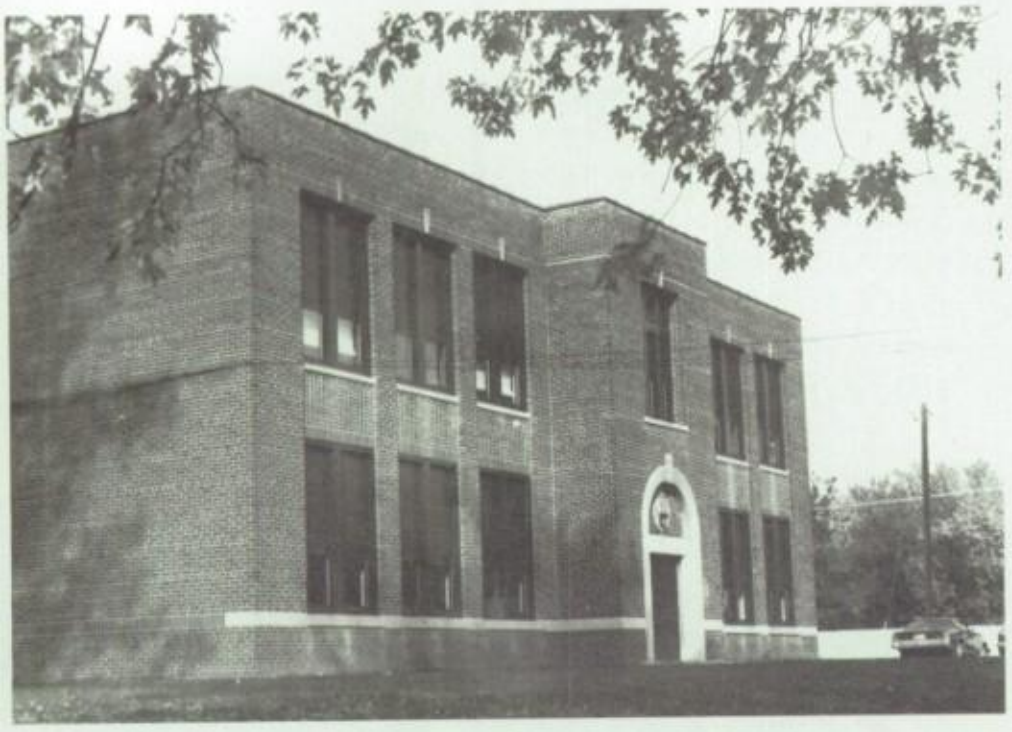
Alternative education program



The Alternative Education Program is currently housed at the Avon School on John R. Street, south of Avon Road. The program is designed to meet the needs of those students, 9-12 grades, who are for a variety of reasons experiencing difficulty or failure in the traditional school setting. Students attending Avon School are entitled to the district's wide-ranging support systems, including guidance and counseling; classes at the high school; sports events and other school-related social functions. Academic emphasis is in the areas of mathematics, English, science, and social studies. Many factors help to make this a very successful school for a majority of the students attending. Smaller class size, close supervision, and personal attention to specific student needs, along with a great deal of support from the Board of Education, have contributed to the success of the alternative education program. If interested, see your counselor for further information. The instructors are: Dan Innamico, Dawn Laatz, Donna Coleman, and Ray Battestill.

Preserving 1987

The Journalism II class, with the help of Advisor Sally Erkkila, provides Adams students with the school newspaper Under the Kilt. Editors and staff combine to publish up-to-date news, sports, world and school events, interviews, editorials, reviews, and the ever popular "Back Page." This year's staff wraps up this school year with the traditional Senior Edition. The editors are Todd Soderwall, Kirsten Riley and Tim Essington.

Construction affected even the Journalism III class this year, although in a slightly different way. The staff, under the direction of second-year advisor Colleen Winkler and Chief Editor John Pakledinaz, decided to use construction as the theme for this year's yearbook. Sports victories, Homecoming, school activities and clubs, and even classes were all carefully covered to make this yearbook an original. Special thanks goes to Ms. Ceil Jensen and the photo journalism class for providing many pictures. Editors included: Chief — John Pakledinaz, Business — Matt Croissant and Renee Aho, Managing — Jeff VanDeRyt and Mike Astromovich, Copy — Maureen Mansfield, Layout — Debra Yurgo, Seniors — Julie Maloney, Academics — Lisa Gilpin, Sports — Jason Weimer, Underclassmen — Nancy Stevens, and Activities — Heather McKinney and Lara Fetsco.

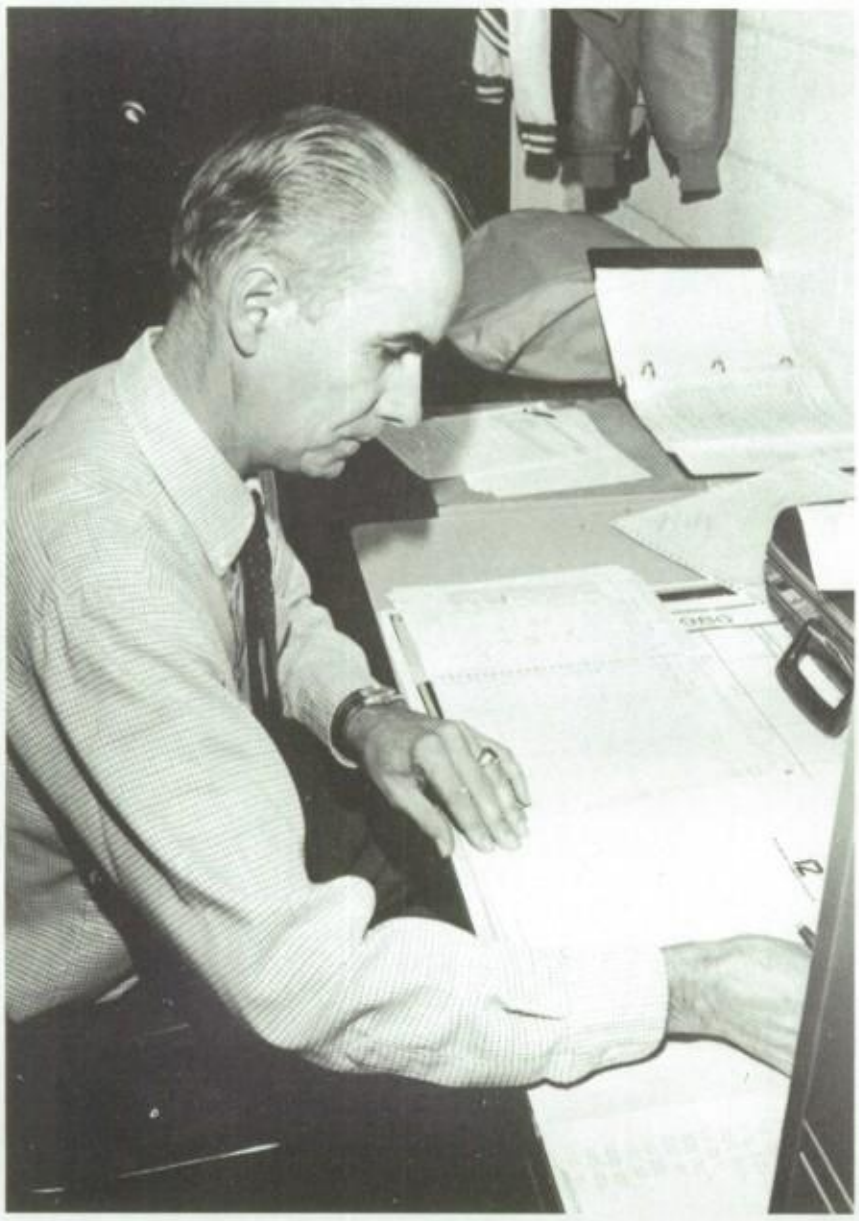
Discussing the blueprints . . .



Teachers in the Social Studies department are very positive about the construction this year.

"We hope to have a real showplace," said Mr. Clevenger. Mr. Gerling thinks the construction is worth the time, money, and disruption because it will make a "larger and more up-to-date facility."

This department has been involved in many events this year. They organized two political conventions in limited gym area, they have had many guest speakers from the political and legal community, and they organized a Close-up trip to Washington, D.C. in March. Many students also had the opportunity to see President Reagan with candidate Bill Lucas at Cobo Hall.

Ms. Mary Jo Gerber is new this year, a previous Adams graduate. Other teachers in the Social Studies department are: Dan Hickey, Greg Clevenger, Al Gierke, John Gerling, Carol Hewitt, and Robert Judge. All the teachers have been adjusting very well to the construction. They have to move at least once a day, but feel it is a small price to pay when compared with the possible end results.

Creating the world in which we live.

The Science Department began this year with some impor tant classrooms missing — a result of the construction.

"We've lost some rooms and a great deal of storage space We're now working our labs out of boxes and stumbling ove each other!" remarked Mr. Glenn.

With perseverance, however, the science staff taugh students the make-up of cells, chemical properties, and countless physics formulas, just like any other year. In addition to the standard courses of biology, chemistry, and physics specialty classes such as Genetics, Anatomy and Physiology and Wilderness Survival are also offered. Any student who has successfully made it through a science class is truly a survivor.

The varsity basketball team had a disappointing season this year. The team had high expectations, including finishing first in the Metro Suburban League. The team finished 4 and 10 in the League and 10 and 13 overall.

In the so-called "second season" Adams won its first District game in eight years. In the first game, Adams defeated Athens and in the second, Adams defeated rival-Rochester. In the District final, Adams lost to Troy High School. However, Coach Dillon was very proud of the team.

The season did have its highlights. Jeff Hammond had an outstanding year averaging 20.1 pts. a game. Todd Wozniak and Todd Pardon had good games against Athens and Rochester in the districts.

"Hey guys . . . Where's the ball?!?"

This year's J.V. basketball team had an outstanding beginning. Team effort and unity have been a big factor in their success.

Coaching at Adams for the first time, Coach Belote has been pleased to find that the players pulled together and formed a strong competitive team. When interviewed, the coach emphasized the importance of a hard-working and dedicated team. "Everyone on the team has a winning attitude, and each individual player has great talent."

Some goals this season are for every player to reach his full potential as an athlete and individual. Secondly, the team should unify and become the best it possibly can. The strength in the team is its depth, from the best player down to the fourteenth. This has been, definitely, a good season for J.V. basketball!

It was not too long ago that op ponents scheduled Adams for the gala Homecoming celebrations, lookin for an easy crowd-pleasing victory, bu those days have become a fade memory. Under the leadership o athletic director Jack Runchey, th Highlanders obtained heights neve before imagined. The 1986-87 Varsit season was one of firsts. Th Highlanders finished with a respectabl 6 wins and 3 losses. This record earne them a Co-championship and back-to back winning seasons, both firsts, i the school's history.

This season's success was brough about by an excellent coaching sta and a talented squad of players. Six o the Highlanders were selected to al league team. They were seniors B Deery, Chris Galvin, Delbert Littlejoh Shannon McDougal, Dave Pratt, an Rudy Santos.

Offensively, Delbert Littlejohn lea the team in rushing with 722 yards, t bring his two year total to 1,723 yard Defensively, Bill Deery lead the team tackles (77) from his middle linebackin position.

Hard-hitting football is what the Adams J.V. football team showed their opponents. J.V. football enjoyed the best season of the entire school's history by achieving a 9-0 record. Coach Inman believed that the team would perform just as well as the J.V. team did last year. He got more than he bargained for. His team rolled over every opponent that they were faced off against by at least 16 points.

Many individual players have some impressive statistics. Mike Casso carried the ball for a season total of 1,245 yards; quarterback Doug Delong passed for over 1,000 yards; wide receiver Greg Wasiluk caught 28 passes for over 700 yards; Brent Mast led the defensive line with 76 tackles, and Jeff Kadlic led the defensive secondary with two interceptions and a fumble recovery.

Cross Country enjoyed a commendable season this year. They ended with a 5-2 record. Coach Ciccarelli believed that both teams could make it to state finals. Girls finished one place short of the finals and boys finished three places short because of an injury to runner, Jamie Hanley. The Adams team had many accomplished runners participating this year. The all-league runners included Mike Huebner, Shelley Bennett, Nancy Splete, and Melissa Hanley.

Melissa Hanley also made the All-Area first team; Mike Huebner and Shelley Bennett made second team, and Nancy Splete walked away with an honorable mention. In short, it was a good season for Cross Country in 1986. Coach Ciccarelli believes that the teams will be strong in 1987.

The team won the Observer-Eccentric Invitational, and finished third in Regionals. Coached by Mr. Carl Pasbjerg, the team finished in 12th place at the State Championships. With only four seniors graduating, the golf team should have another strong year with Steve Aumock and Andy Norton the top returnees.

J.V. SOCCER

The Adams J.V. Soccer team, coached by Ken Hulit, took first place in the first year of official J.V. play. The team went 11-0-3 in the league, 11-1-3 overall. According to Coach Hulit, this year's team was "One of the best we've ever had." Hulit feels that Sophomore Jack Riggs is the most improved player as a result of his late season defense, while he feels that Sophomore Scott Sigglmeyer was the M.V.P. Junior Stephen Wiseman led the team in goals with 13, while Dan LaRosa led the team in assists with 16. According to Coach Hulit, the reason for the team's success was due to the competitiveness of the team.

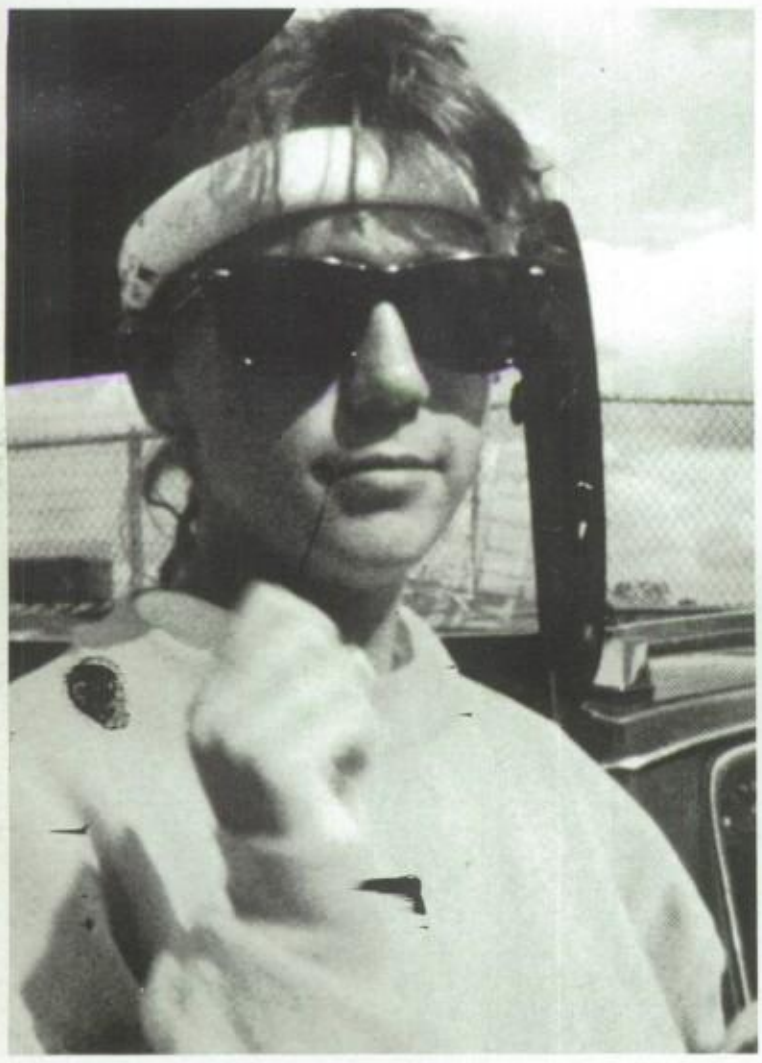
This year, the girls' tennis team had a record of 11-1. They took second place in their league and third in the regionals. Coach Alan Must has been the girls' tennis coach for the past few years at Adams.

Junior Shannon Condon took first place in singles and Erin Rourke took second. Shannon was able to qualify for the state finals in Midland, but she lost in her first match. "I was just glad to get a chance to go and hope I'll get another chance next year," said Shannon.

But the singles players weren't the only highlight of this year's tennis team. Julie Law and Cindy Ryan took first in the doubles. The season ended after hard practices that started in late summer and continued every day after school.

The team members agreed that it had been a fine season and hope for improvement in the fall of '87.



Boys' Tennis

The Rochester Adams Boys' Tennis Team is willing to practice long and hard this year to try to attain the league title. Todd Soderwall said that "the team is ready to go outside anytime, as long as it is not raining or snowing."

Coach Alan Must hopes for an excellent season, with returning seniors Bob Borski and Todd Soderwall, each providing a strong base from which the team can expand. With the help of underclassmen Mark Jeong and Tom Bosley, the Highlanders can look forward to a promising season in the spring of '87.

Varsity softball

This year's softball team is looking forward to a successful season under the instruction of Coach Ken Belote. With the help of two Juniors, Amy Turnen and Becky Klepp, the returning seniors Robin Buxar, Bobbi Jo Hohnholt, Julie Maloney, and Kim Jones will be expected to hold their own against their competitors. While expected to have a winning season, the softball team has a goal of league championship. Although it's his first year at the varsity level, Coach Belote has had seven years of experience coaching softball and is looking forward to a good season.

J.V. Softball

The J.V. Softball team is expected to have a strong season. They are receiving excellent training for the Varsity level. We expect them to perform well next year. This year, the JV Softball team has set a goal for the league title. Coach Donna Crowl has high hopes for the season.

The team, under Coach Crowl, worked harder this spring than most. Trying to master the fundamentals of the game is their top priority. Once this goal is reached, these girls are ready for varsity caliber ball. Adams is looking forward to a strong program because of the improved coaching at the junior varsity level.

Ski Team

The Adams Ski Team once again had an excellent sk season. Time after time the Highlanders destroyed thei opponents with precision skiing and skill. The member skied so well, in fact, that the boys' team was able t take first place in the Regional meet, led by Mik Huebner who took first place in both the Slalom an Giant Slalom. This performance sent the boys' team t the State meet where the top ten teams in the stat compete. The girls' team also had a very strong season. They took fourth place in regionals this yea with Renee Aho going to the State finals to compete.

Under the leadership of Ron Misch, the Adams wrestlers compiled a respectable record of 6 wins and 2 losses in league matches. Even though Adams was unable to capture the league title, the team showed great enthusiasm and determination throughout the season.

Captain Brooks Dingman said, "This year's season could have been a championship year if there was more participation from the student body." This lack of wrestlers caused Adams to forfeit an average of two weight classes each meet, in the 98-pound and heavyweight divisions. Due to these circumstances, Adams was forced to wrestle at a severe disadvantage.

The Highlanders are looking forward to next year's season with returning juniors Lauren Darnell and John Popovecz. Also, with a strong base of sophomore wrestlers, Adams is bound to win league.

Girls' Varsity Volleyball

"The leaders made us a winner"

The Girls' Volleyball team got off to a rugged start after being plagued with early injuries. They eventually overcame the injuries as each person had spirit in combining a winning record. The captain of the volleyball team, Chris Stephens, showed great leadership as she carried the team into the District Meet. B. J. Hohnholt, Robin Buxar, and Kelly Moran also helped out in making the Volleyball Team a winner.

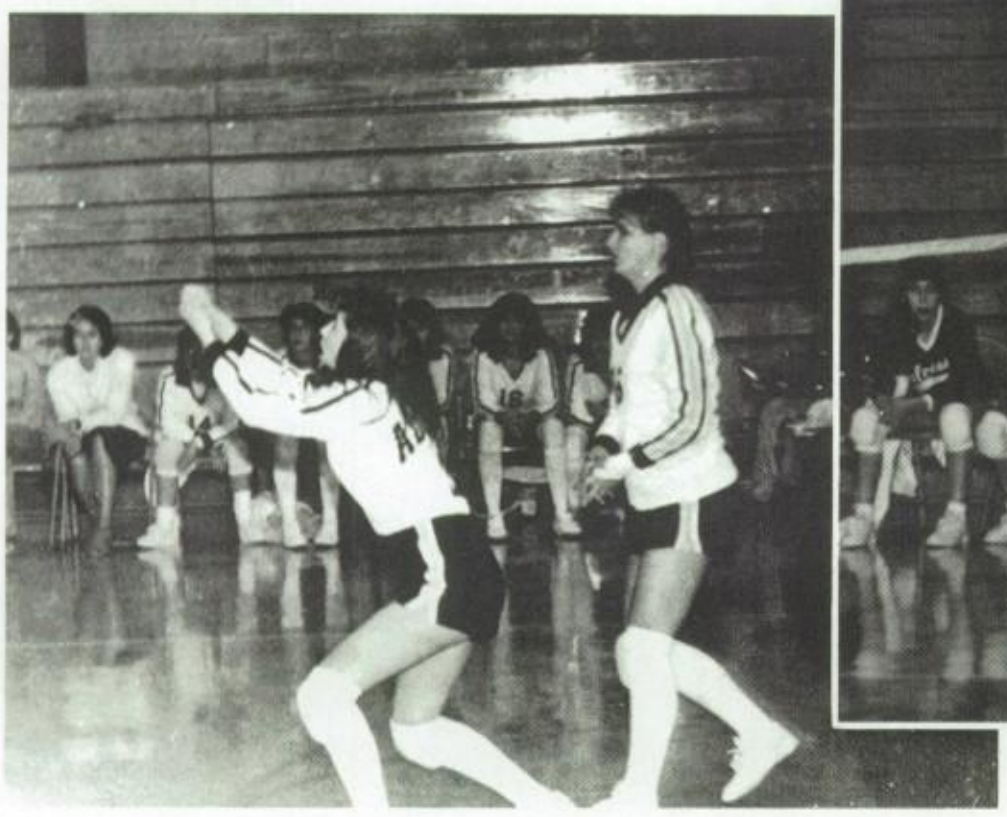
Teamwork was the name of the game



The 1986-87 J.V. Volleyball team consisted of 12 members, all sophomores. Some of the major contributors were Debra Stavale, Heidi Miller, and Julie Schultz. The reason for the team's success was its great teamwork. It took all 12 members to win the matches. The team, coached by Judy Arnold, compiled an 8-6 record. The captains of the team were Sandy Stewart and Jackie Hund. According to Coach Arnold, the team greatly improved from the beginning to the end. The major goal of the team was to have a winning record. The team also placed second in an Invitational tournament.

Varsity baseball

The Varsity Baseball team is expected to be another winner this year. Coach Guerrerri is confident that this team can win league, districts, and even proceed to state finals. He claims that this team is the fastest team he's ever had. Team unity is another important factor that will come into play during the season, and Coach Guererri is confident in this facet of the game as well. Although he expects much competition from Lathrup, Groves, and Dondero, he believes that pitchers Matt Swain, Mark Lutkenhoff, Mark Kulczak, Bryan Bonnici, Russ Juliette, and Brendan Donahue, combined with the speed and agility of the rest of the team, can easily overwhelm these opponents. The Adams Varsity Baseball team will definitely be a team worth watching.

The tean showed excellent fielding and basemen and a strong pitching staf of M. Corvigno, B. Fudge, T. Luxton B. Muir, and C. Nestro. They started the season with a doubleheader on April 4th against a non-conference team and hope to finish ranking high in the MSAA Baseball Conference.

as far as they wished in po

J.V. Soccer

The Girls' J.V. Soccer team's basic function is to establish a base for the Varsity Soccer. They work to provide some practical experience and skill to underclassmen, so that when they reach the Varsity level they will be able to compete and perform against all opponents, a necessity when you are a part of the tough M.S.A.A. which has been known for its competitive women's soccer.

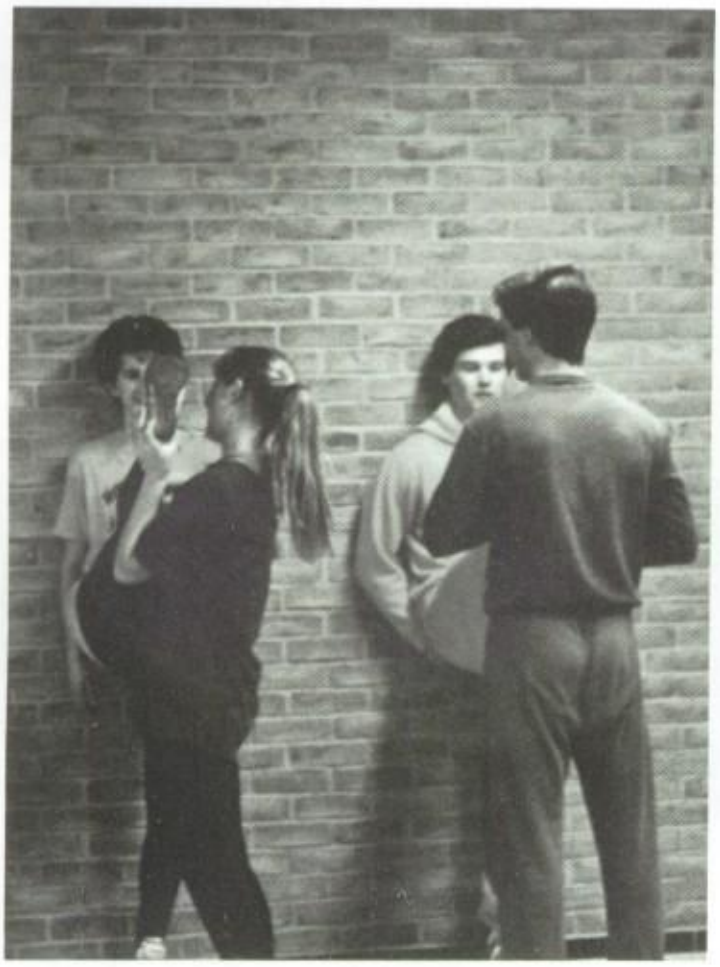
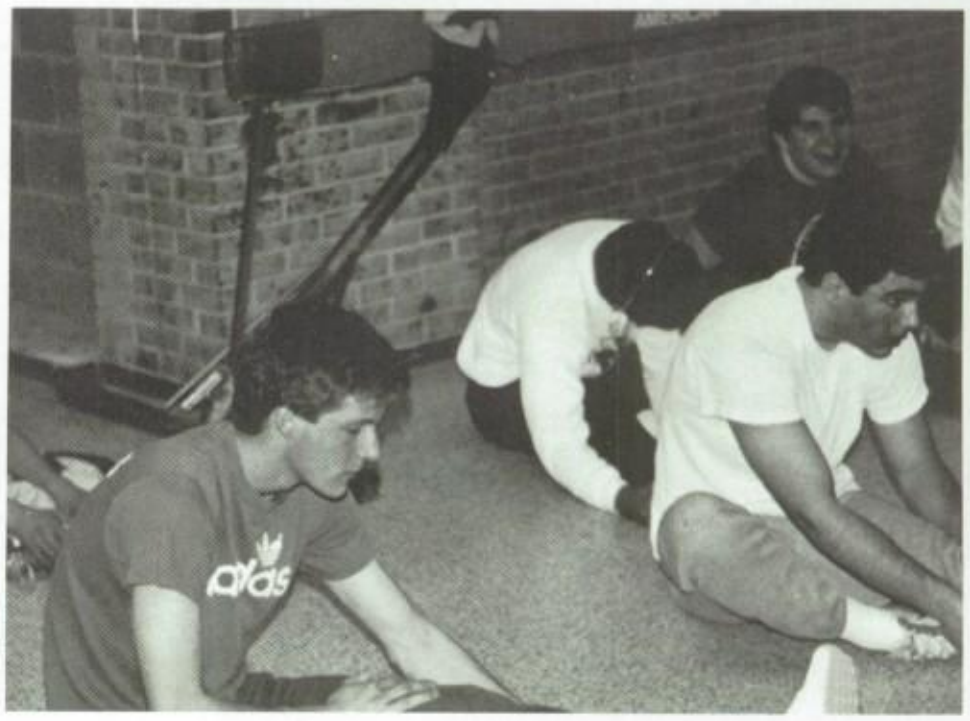
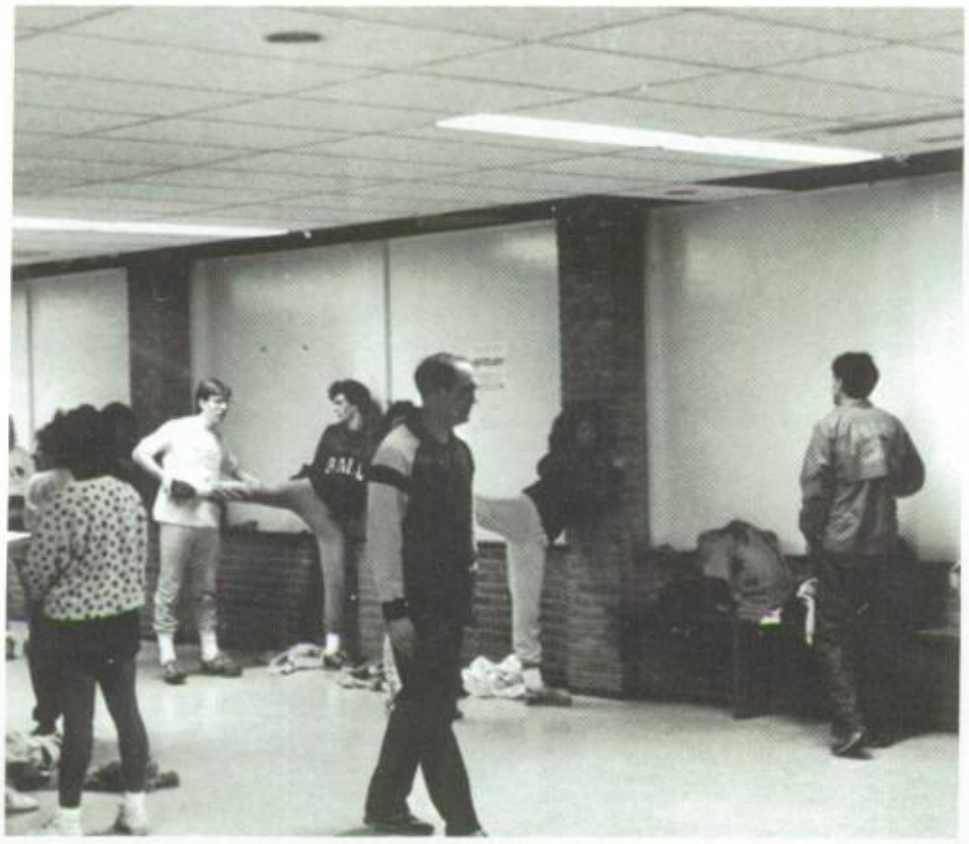
Track







The track team endured many long, hard practices this year in hopes of attaining the league title. The sprinters were coached by Gary Inman, the distance runners by Bud Cicciarelli, and the hurdlers by Jim Redin. While depending upon the seniors for many events, Mr. Inman hopes that the juniors and sophomores will pull through this year and be successful at the varsity level. The track team is led by its captains Aaron Rubel, Dan James, Glori Schultz, Dana Christian, and Shelley Bennett. While expecting much effort from the captains, Mr. Cicciarelli is also expecting excellent performances and leadership from Seniors Jamie Hanley, Roger Kucway, and Ty Wedekind to pull the distance team together. The hurdlers this year will be led by Chris Iamarino and Mike Moore, but Coach Redin is expecting Juniors Jim Newlin and Eric Creps to help fill the ranks.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Undoubtedly, the worst conditions for cheering are in an outside stadium and in freezing temperatures. These hazards never crossed the minds of our varsity football cheerleading squad. The saying goes "Cold hands, warm heart" and this could have been applied to this squad. The colder it became the harder the team worked. They wore classy uniforms and Adams has never looked so good. The Varsity squad included Kelly Gamble, Kristin Hain, Jenny Baustert, Trish Diewald, Kristi Scott, Stacey Beerer, Debbie Bencik, Megan Walas, Kathy Grech, and Melyn Roberson.

J.V. Cheerleaders

This energetic bunch took Adams by storm. The junior varsity football cheerleading squad fulfilled everyone's expectations and more. Not only their cheers but their dazzling smiles lift our mighty Highlanders to many victories. They struggled through cold, rain, and snow and always gave 100%. The junior varsity squad included: Ericka Lewis, Camille Carmen, Katie Dupree, Kristin Kauffman, Jean Petruccio, Pam Pietraszkiewicz, Shauna Reed, Alyssa Stec, Lisa Willet, and Julie Clement.

How can we lose?

Varsity Cheerleaders

After a year of experience, the Varsity Cheerleaders squad took the court with confidence and style. Proudly displaying our brown and gold, the squad traveled with the B-ball team to add a boost to our morale. With daily practices, these precious few perfected their art and lifted our spirits. The Varsity squad included: Trish Diewald, Jenny Baustert, Heather Sellgren, Erin Rourke, Kris Weckwert, Kelly Gamble, Kristi Scott, Lisa Morency, Megan Walas, and Kristin Hain.

J.V. Cheerleaders

Certainly one of the most talented squads to enter Highlander Haven, the JV team captured our attention and held the intensity high throughout the season. A stable and intelligent group, they poured their hearts out to the crowd day after day. The JV squad included: Lisa Willet, Camille Carmen, Alyssa Stec, Janelle Tripoli, Katie Dupree, Pam Pietaszkiewicz, Ericka Lewis, Kaylie Gathen, Kristin Kauffman, Heather Harrington, Julie Clement.

Luckily, that's no longer as bad a break as it sounds. Because your friendly Novus dealer can repair broken and cracked windshields to like-new condition without replacement. For a fraction of what it would cost to replace.

So when the unexpected hits, remember Novus.

And your bad break won't be bad at all.

To my dear, sweet, loving sister, Andrea-Well this year has finally come to an end- I can finally leave V.H. w/a smile!! I know I'm the first to sign this & it should be nice & perfect- but tough shit!!
I'm in the car and we're gonna have more than enough fun in Fla.!! I don't think Florida's gonna be ready 4 us-well me anyway!! I've had the best time this year except
I got caught 4 everything-almost!! The car ride & being drunk w/ Brad was the most awsome- I even "blew" or that- spit it? I figured you would!! So what if my hair'd a mess- look at your bon jovi's- mine's not a whole lot different!! Well ya'll think the class of '89 rule- they suck!! The class of '90's gonna do more than rule mainly because I'm gonna make it do more- much more!!

I've been real- real fun!! I'll be back next year- as soon as I get the car!! ♡ 4EVA

Love,
